The Editor's column

Comparisons may be odious at times, but we are passing on to our readers a paragraph in a letter received from Pat Engelhart, a former reporter of Paddock Publications, who is assistant editor of a daily paper in Minnesota.

"The philosophy of newspapers are much different here than in the Chicago area. There seems to be no drive to get the 'most news into today's paper' but rather what we don't get done today, we'll do tomorrow.

"Birth, death and marriage announcements are from a week to a month old before they get into print. There are a number of thriving weeklies in the county who manage to survive—and I don't know why, with the publication of the class of news they publish."

Perhaps the months Pat spent on the staff of this paper spoiled him for an easy editor's life.

The term "diversified education" may have little meaning to the average adult reader, but it is meaning a lot to a group of students of Arlington Heights township high school. Its operation means that the student who is particularly interested in learning a trade, can do so and still earn a high school diploma.

Residents of Arlington Heights should be pleased to learn that the 1952 Community Chest organization this week issued checks for the full budget of five local youth groups totaling $9,675 and over $5,000 to eight national organizations. The Red Cross was omitted at their request. A check for $1,500 was sent to March of Dimes.

The Community Chest plan saves a lot of door bell ringing of a lot of people.

Lawyers are only human beings, but when you get a bunch of them together, anything can happen. It did last Thursday at Oak Park village hall when the Tri-County Home Rule association gave a hearing to representatives of Chicago Plan Commission. The "city slickers" painted a very rosy picture in their attempt to sell the Greater Chicago plan to the boys who reside "out in the sticks."

There were more lawyers present than mayors. A mayor could only vote once. There were no restrictions on the vote of lawyers. Some of them even voted in the name of towns which are not members of the association.

In the resulting wrangle, the Chicago representatives picked up their hats and left with the explanation, "there is no reason why we should stick around." Their departure was warmly applauded.

Palatine police claim that it is licking juvenile delinquency in that town by the direction of a junior police force. It is getting results under the operation of the police chief and Police Magistrate Frank Hartmann.

One look in the faces of those boys who ride in the police car one day a week and those who drill Saturday mornings will convince anyone that these boys are "going straight."

This week's Way Back When of 50 years ago predicted that because of modern labor machinery of those days, farmers were raising smaller families, which in turn threatened the existence of rural schools. Today it is because of modern transportation and machinery that those schools are bursting at the seams.

"Ten Years Ago" in Way Back When, now has an added feature —the name of the army camps in which "our boys" of the 1940's were serving their country. The information is taken from letters published in "With Uncle Sam" of that period. Where army regulations did not allow the publication of places, Bob Paddock, editor of that section, adopted the heading, "LOK" which, translated means, "Lord Only Knows."

A special committee has been appointed to work out a revised zoning law for the unincorporated areas. It appears that spot zoning, always strongly opposed by residential neighbors, is on the way out. The suggestion that any rezoning shall apply to an entire area should be a solution. It is the only way to protect Cook county farms and certain residential areas from invasion of industrial plants.

A proposed amendment to the present law would enable zoning boards to hold all hearings in the county court house in place of "on the ground." It would save a lot of traveling for those conducting the hearings and would probably eliminate much of the testimony of those opposed to rezoning.

The present method is the "town meeting" idea of our forefathers. Centralization of government is making increasing inroads in our autonomy. The more we depart from the government practices of our forefathers, the nearer we approach a brand of dictatorship even if it is done in the name of economy.

The next nail to be driven into "the township coffin" may be the elimination of township officers. If the planners have their way, our township collectors, assessors, etc. who are to be elected in April might be "lawed out of office." The only remedy is a united front on the part of home folks who believe in local democracy by local people.

A woman inquired last week if the odor of this paper is to become a permanent feature. She was considering the placing of copies of paper with the floral odor among undies.

Sorry, lady, but the odor last week was a hangover from the advertisement announcing the arrival of the 1953 model of a well known car in the issue January 16. The "perfume" had been placed in the ink used in the advertisement.

Community Chest Gives $9,675 to Local Youth Groups; $5,290 to National Agencies

Reporting a treasury balance of $16,303.16, the Arlington Heights Community Chest voted this week to distribute the funds recently collected in the first annual chest drive here, as follows:

Boy scouts, $1,815; cub scouts, $3,025; girl scouts, $1,500; Brownies, $1,500; Youth Center, $1,800; Salvation Army, $440; Heart Fund, $1,200; Cancer Fund, $1,200; Arthritis Fund, $500; Cerebral Palsy, $500; Muscular Dystrophy, $500; Seeing Eye Dog association, $100; Arlington Heights Library Fund, $100, and Nurses' Club Lending Closet, $250.

In addition, it was decided to send a check for $1500 to the March of Dimes organization, to supplement the campaign that agency directs in this community; to transfer $300 to a special operating fund for the chest, and leave the balance of $73.16 in the treasury, along with the few gifts still expected to be received for continued chest activities leading to the second annual effort.

The meeting this week was attended by members of the budget committee and the board of directors of the chest, and was presided over by William Gerbosi, acting for N. M. Lattof, president.

Mr. Gerbosi pointed out that the amount collected represents 84% of the original budget goal, in spite of the fact that the drive was the first of its kind in Arlington Heights, giving great promise for the effectiveness of future drives on an annual basis.

While indications previously had been that the March of Dimes did not elect to be included in the Community Chest program along with the other agencies, the chest group decided to offer a part of the funds collected, via a letter from Mr. Lattof to the March of Dimes chairman, as follows:

"The Board of Directors of the Arlington Heights Community Chest have voted $1,500 from their funds for the purpose of combating infantile paralysis. Recognizing that the March of Dimes is the most effective organization in combating polio, it is with pleasure that we extend this check for $1,500 to your organization."

Lattof Heads United Citizens Ticket For Municipal Offices

A new political party appeared on the Arlington Heights scene this week with announcement of a slate of candidates for the village election April 21 by the United Citizens Party, and with declarations for increased efficiency in government and strict maintenance of the residential character of the village as major planks in its platform.

The ticket presented to the public includes Nicholas M. Lattof as candidate for mayor, and Forrest Davis as candidate for re-election as village clerk.

For trustee the slate presents William A. Gerbosi, vice-president and general manager of Jewel Tea Co., who is now serving a partial term on the village board; Ralph Hoffie, long-time resident of Arlington Heights, who is also a member of the present board, and Charles C. Barrett, an active member of the Eastwood Improvement association and executive vice-president of a leading Chicago mortgage and finance company.

LATTOF, who has accepted the party's nomination for the office of mayor, has long been identified with civic activities of major importance in Arlington Heights, having been instrumental in developing the annual community Fourth of July celebrations, the Youth Center, the Arlington Heights Community Council, and the general citizens committee, which he served as first president.

Lattof also served as president of the Arlington Heights elementary school board for 7 years. During that period additions to the North and South schools were completed, the Junior high school was built, and plans for the Dryden school were initiated and the building site was purchased.

"With the slate of candidates we offer, the capable hold-over members on the village board, and the present staff of village employees, we can have progress never before experienced in Arlington Heights," Lattof said today.

"OUR PROGRAM calls for increased efficiency, not increased taxes. The interests which Arlington Heights citizens have in their community are the prime interests of the United Citizens Party."

At the final organization meeting of the new party, Gerbosi, who recently completed service as chairman of the first Arlington Heights community chest drive, outlined what he called the almost unprecedented character of the new political movement.

"I'VE NEVER seen anything like it," Gerbosi said. "The men who have been attracted to this party are motivated by an interest in this village and in its healthy, orderly growth. No man on the ticket which we have settled upon came out seeking office. Each man was asked to serve. Some of them who felt they were too busy were persuaded to run. They have been urged to give of their time and effort to protect the suburban and residential nature of Arlington Heights, to manage and direct village growth so that property values will be preserved, and so that a new level of efficiency can be brought into play in the operation of village business."

Gerbosi's statement is reflected in the published platform of the United Citizens Party which pledges not only to work to preserve the residential character of Arlington Heights, but also to cooperate with the governing bodies of neighboring communities to prevent industrial development in this entire suburban area.

THE PLATFORM also calls for the hiring of a qualified commissioner of public works, expansion of the Arlington Heights business district, improvement of zoning regulations with emphasis on rezoning of certain areas to residential, and activities directed toward orderly development of the village along the general terms outlined by the Stanton and Rockwell plan report.

One plank hits out at present water rates paid by Arlington Heights residents, declaring they are too high.

"One of the important elements of our program, as highlighted by several plans in our platform," Lattof pointed out, "is the uniting of the various elements of our community in plans which will benefit all.

"These interests can be readily coordinated, as the membership of our slate for election in April clearly shows. Barrett is a commuter. Gerbosi is an established resident, who has his employment in one of the leading businesses of a nearby suburb. Ralph Hoffie has a business of his own which keeps him in Arlington Heights a good portion of the time.

"I IDENTIFY my interests with other businessmen in this community, while participating in those civic projects which can utilize my services. Forrest Davis, village clerk for 11 years, has long ago proved his desire and his ability to serve all citizens efficiently and pleasantly. Gerbosi and Hoffie, moreover, have acquired a thorough knowledge of the needs and the workings of the village through their present uncompleted terms of office on the village board.

"As a candidate for the office of mayor, however, I want to make one thing particularly clear. This is a united program. Commuters, property owners, businessmen, church-goers—men and women of all segments of our population are already in back of our program."

Report Second Village Ticket Being Formed With Goedke As Mayor

It appears that Arlington Heights voters will have the opportunity to select the next village officials from two complete tickets. Mayor Goedke, as previously announced, is a candidate for re-election. His running mates have not yet been officially announced.

Draft Calls Seven Men From This Area

Seven men were inducted into the army from this area last Friday and all are at Ft. Sheridan awaiting assignment of their basic training centers.

Three of the men came from Palatine. They are George Etteldorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Etteldorf, formerly of Palatine; James R. Kendzie, son of Mrs. J. Kendzie, Rand rd., and Eugene B. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Thomas, 251 W. Wilson.

Two men were from Arlington Heights, Donald Larsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thorleif Larsen, Banbury rd., and Paul M. Vormittag, son of Mrs. Anna Vormittag, 1209 N. Belmont.

George Korn, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Korn, was the only Mount Prospect man. Robert Wires was also among the inductees.

Week End Campers Find 'Stolen' Auto

A week end camping trip at the Elk Grove forest preserves turned out to be quite an exciting experience for three Arlington Heights boys, Elroy Winkelmann Jr., Dickie Duenn and Roy Petterson.

The lads, who were camping with three other boys from the buffalo patrol of boy scout troop 37, were gathering wood Sunday morning when they came across a 1952 Hudson parked in some bushes well off the main highway. Investigating further they found the auto locked but stripped of everything, including tires.

They reported it to the forest ranger, who said he believed it was a stolen auto, though no trace of its owner has been found to date. The car was towed into Arlington Fender and Body shop in Arlington Heights. It apparently had been abandoned sometime ago, as the ground under it was free from snow.

Dunton Street Lights In Operation March 1

The open winter has enabled the Monroe Electric Co. to complete all of its underground cable work for the installation of the ornamental street lights on South Dunton. There is every probability that they will be in operation by March 1.

Post foundations are the next step in the construction and as soon as they have sufficiently hardened, the poles are ready to be set up. Similar lights are in the making for Campbell street.

SHOPPING CENTER SUIT FILED AGAINST VILLAGE

'Death Blow' Given To Grab Plan Of Chicago

The proposed Greater Chicago plan being advanced by Chicago Plan Commission received an almost knock-out blow last Thursday at a meeting of the Tri-County Home Rule Association held at Oak Park village hall.

The meeting was called at the request of the proponents of the plan to give them an opportunity to present their side of the story, which was told by William Spencer, chairman of the Chicago Plan Commission, Carl Gardner, secretary, and Charles Kimball Jr., financial director of the New York Port Authority.

They stressed the claim that the operation of the authority would not mean any direct tax against suburban property owners. The speakers claimed the revised proposed bill, copies of which were distributed, would take over the responsibility of providing highways, parking areas, water systems, sewage disposal and a multitude of other projects from the present "tax ladened" local governments.

Representatives of the 25 municipalities who were present were not in a mood to even discuss the evidence. A motion was promptly passed registering the opposition of the home rule association to the proposal.

Attorneys of the various towns lead the opposition, agreeing with Attorney Robt. Glaesel, of Oak Park, that his village did not want any part of the plan. Announcement was made that the Cook County Farm Bureau had passed a resolution in opposition to the plan.

An attempt of one group to allow a study of the plan by a special committee failed to carry by one vote. Whereupon the original motion was unanimously passed.

The Chicago visitors did not wait for the adjournment before gathering up their brief cases with the words, "there is no use of our remaining here," left the hall.

Arlington Heights was represented by Village Clerk Davis and Trustee Carlisle; Palatine by Attorney Thomas Matthews and Mount Prospect by Attorney Opeka.

Surveyors At Work On Tri-State Right-of-way

Two crews of surveyors are at work on the extension of Tri-State Highway north of Higgins road through the village of Arlington Heights. William Mortimer, superintendent of highways, told a reporter Tuesday that the survey being made was for the purpose of determining definite lines. Previously, the lines were only on paper. Plans can not be drawn or negotiations started for purchase of land until accurate profiles are completed.

Actual construction of the extension will not be started until funds are especially provided for the purpose.

Village Theatre To Present Children's Show February 8

"Jack And The Beanstalk," will be given February 8, at 2 and 4 p. m., at the Arlington Heights high school. This show, given especially for children, will also delight adults. Admission is twenty-five cents for all ages.

In the past the Village Theatre has presented a children's show at Christmas, but it was decided that a show in February would be a more opportune time than during the busy holiday season. Mrs. Robert Hawley is directing the production.

Spelling Bee Finals On TV Monday

Monday evening, Feb. 2, at approximately 7 p.m., two Arlington Heights Junior high school pupils, Patricia Nolan of the seventh grade, and Robert Siegel of the eighth grade, will take part in the Cook county finals of the Daily News spelling bee which will be telecast over station WENR-TV.

This contest will be the first of two county finals and will include all sectional winners of public schools' contests in the county outside of the city of Chicago as well as the winners of the sectional spelling contests for all parochial schools of Cook county, including Chicago. The second contest, to be held a week later, February 9, will also be televised, and will be for the winners of all sectional contests held for boys and girls in the public schools in the city of Chicago only.

WINNERS OF THE two televised contests will go to Washington, D. C., later in the year for a week to participate in the national spelling bee and to do some sightseeing.

Several boys and girls who placed rather high on the list of those competing in the county finals last year have managed to work their way back into the finals again this year, so the contest should be a real thriller. Both Pat Nolan and Bob Siegel were in the finals last year, along with Peter Swanson, who is now a high school freshman and is therefore ineligible to compete.

Bob and Pat finished fifth and sixth last year and should give a good account of themselves this time, along with the other finalists who are repeating. There will be well over 30 sectional winners battling it out to see which one will get the first prize of a portable radio, and a free trip to Washington for the national finals.

Builder Claims Present Shopping Facilities Are Inadequate Today

A lawsuit was filed in the Superior Court of Cook county, Friday, Jan. 23, 1953, by John Lindstrom, Inc. et al, with respect to the rezoning of the 13 acre plot located south of George st. and east of S. State rd., commonly known as the Pfluger farm, which has been proposed as the site for an extensive new multi-million dollar shopping center.

After several months of hearings before the Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals, the recommendation was made that the re-zoning to commercial use be denied. At the January 12, 1953, meeting of the village board, a resolution denying the rezoning was approved by a majority vote.

Named as defendants in the law suit are the Village of Arlington Heights, President Albert W. Goedke, Trustees Edward Carlisle, David Zimmerman, William Gerbosi, Ralph Hoffie, Walter Karstens and William Luehring, and Clerk Forrest Davis.

AMONG OTHER things, the complaint contends that the present shopping facilities are inadequate and congested, the proposed shopping center with provision for parking at least 900 automobiles and with a value in excess of $2,000,000, will serve a public demand, a public convenience and a public good. Further, that the development of the property contemplates the erection of modern beautiful buildings, compatible with surrounding architecture, with extensive screening and planting to give it a park-like atmosphere, and with proper traffic control and facilities; accordingly, that the rezoning should be granted.

THE LAWSUIT attacks the validity of the present Village Zoning Ordinance, enacted in 1927, particularly as it applies to the site proposed for the shopping center, and declares the same to be void under the provisions of the Constitutions of the State of Illinois and the United States of America.

In an interview, John Lindstrom said that this lawsuit was filed most reluctantly, that every effort had been made to demonstrate to the zoning and village boards that the shopping center would prove to be a great asset to the community and would provide property tax relief and generally increase real estate values in the village. He pointed out that the shopping center would contribute over $50,000 annually in taxes and it would serve a long delayed need in the community.

JOHN LINDSTROM further stated that he was most regretful for the actions of the zoning and village boards in denying the requested rezoning in that it meant postponement of construction of the shopping center from spring of this year until summer or early fall.

Announce Slate For Elk Grove Township Offices

Albert Wille, Mount Prospect, announced this week he would not seek re-election as supervisor of Elk Grove township, a post he has held for 27 years.

Otto Busse, who has been township assessor for the past 16 years, is also retiring this spring.

A complete slate of candidates for the township offices, to be elected April 7, is headed by Geo. L. Busse for supervisor. John W. Pohlmann seeks the post of assessor, and Arnold Scharringhausen will run for collector.

OTHERS ON the ticket include Clarence Scharringhausen, town clerk, and Ronald L. Bradley, highway commissioner.

For justice of the peace are E. A. Glaeser, Carl Hammerl, Sherman Canty, Harvey C. Klehm, and Dick Georgen; and for constables are Ambrose Kranz, Vernon Soenksen, Roscoe Reed, Harold Hasting, and Robert Sophie.

Wille said he felt it was time for someone else to take over the duties of supervisor. The years passed very quickly, he commented, and the burden of office was not heavy. There has been no poor relief in Elk Grove since 1937. "I ran it just like my own business," he said. Wille's salary as supervisor is $380 a year.

Palatine Finds A New Way To Popularize Law Obedience

A number of the towns in the northwest area have asked Judge Hartman and Police Chief Meyer details of Palatine's junior police force. Hartman told them that the first requisite was the willingness of a few people to give up their Saturday mornings or possibly a few hours after school time.

Frank Hartman and his assistants are doing just that. He is being assisted by Mrs. McKown who has charge of the chorus and Mrs. Hartman, who is temporarily instructing a band, which is sorely in need of a regular instructor.

While the junior police force is an integral organization of its own, the leaders emphasize that it cannot be a substitute for the scouts, catechism classes, or other junior organizations. Its membership is large, but regular attendance of every member is almost impossible because of other demands on the time of the boys.

This is the second year that the junior police has been in operation in Palatine. The average age this year dropped from 12 years to 10, but Mr. Hartman believes those boys who have dropped out will carry with them a training in good citizenship.

Perhaps it is the police badge, the overseas cap, or the uniform that holds their interest, but they are discovering the joy of working together and taking and giving orders. That is what they learn and is the purpose of the Saturday morning drills.

They always look forward to the "extras" Tuesday and Thursday afternoons when, for one hour, four of them have the privilege of riding in the police car, getting first hand contact with a working police officer.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock a good many of them sit in on the court sessions when real arrest cases are being tried. One young man last Saturday asked Judge Hartman if he could attend the session next Saturday so he could learn the final disposition of the case that had started that afternoon.

Now for a few details. The junior police comprises a drill team, a boy's chorus, and a band. The captain is Donald Funston, the lieutenant is Floyd Gephart. There are six sergeants: Clarence Pollen, Alvin Gephart, Don Kreft, Robert Hartman, Larry Kleinhans, Dick Sanborn.

Two public entertainments are given each year to raise the needed funds at which semi-professionals often donate their services for the good of the cause. The organization furnishes the badges and caps, the boy furnishes his own khaki trousers, tie and white shirt.

Hartman, who forgets his law business for two hours every Saturday morning while he calls out orders, "Halt, attention right front, forward march," to 50 or more boys. He attended officers' school and was a member of the Shrine silent drill team five years.

Chief Meyer, when asked if junior police is worth while said, "The boys are learning to be on the side of law. They are not snoopers and are not expected to report infractions of the law. Instead, by their presence, in almost every group they automatically curb their fellow companions from doing unlawful acts.

Defer Action On Kimball Hill Project

The county board of commissioners Friday deferred action on the Kimball Hill project for the building of 1,700 homes in a 537-acre tract adjoining the south of the Arlington Park race track.

At the board's public service committee meeting Thursday, the matter was deferred on a motion by Commissioner George A. Miller, Oak Park, because Commissioner William Busse of Mount Prospect had been unable to attend the meeting. Since it was deferred in committee it did not come up for consideration on Friday's meeting of the board.

In order to overrule the zoning board's decision, the county board would have to register a three-quarters vote against. That would reguire 12 "no" votes.

Following the service they will be guests of the Youth fellowship.

Mothers March on Polio Tonight

Porch Lights To Signal Welcome to Canvassers

Thursday, Jan. 29, is the night for the Mothers' March on Polio.

Local chairmen of the mothers' campaign urge all families in this community to join in support of the first county-wide Mothers' March on Polio—a voluntary crusade of more than 75,000 Cook county mothers for contributions to fight the disease which threatens their children.

Chairmen in the towns served by Paddock Publications are: Mrs. F. P. Sesterhenn, 316 W. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Raymond Dietrich, 13 S. Parkway, Prospect Heights; Mrs. Leighton Mangels, 22 E. Wilson, Palatine, and Robert F. Scott, Milwaukee ave., Wheeling.

Shining porchlights, windows with lighted candles, and doorknobs tied with handkerchiefs, towels or shoes will be the signal — between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock tonight—which will welcome the Marching Mothers to stop for contributions to the 1953 March of Dimes.

"Last year's tragic polio epidemic—the worst in Cook county history—threatened every family in this community," the chairmen said. "Your child could have been one of the more than 1,750 victims stricken by this dread disease of 1952. Polio strikes without regard to health, personal wealth or race. Insure your family against the ever-present threat of polio by joining the Mothers' March on Polio tonight. Signal the marching mothers to stop at your house between 7 and 8 for your contribution to fight polio."

The Cook County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis spent more than $540,000 to aid victims of last year's polio epidemic. Contributions to the Mothers' March on Polio will be used to continue care for the 1952 polio victims and those who will be stricken during the anticipated 1953 "polio season," to provide professional education in polio treatment and to finance research for a polio cure and vaccine. Edward Hines Lumber Co. Opens Mt. Prospect Yard

John E. Stanek, Local Manager Of Hines Lumber Is A Veteran Lumber Man

John E. Stanek, manager of the new Mount Prospect Yard of Edward Hines Lumber Co.. located at 604 West Central rd., Mount Prospect, is a veteran of 18 years with the Hines organization having joined the company on June 15, 1934.

Stanek, who lives at 5615 N. Meade ave., Chicago, is married and has a son, James John Stanek, who is 16 years old. Like all Hines yard managers, he has risen from the ranks, having served at Jefferson Park yard in the footsteps of his father, Joseph Stanek Sr., who recently retired after 36 years of service. Stanek has had a long training in serving Hines customers and for the past five years, has worked with contractors and builders as a salesman at Hines Melrose Park branch after holding positions successfully as bookkeeper, shipping clerk and consumer salesman.

Edward Hines Lumber Co., on a full page advertisement in Paddock Publications, announced this week that the remodeling and rebuilding the former yard of Prospect Mill & Lumber Co., which was purchased by them last fall has so far progressed that their new yard on Central road, Mount Prospect, will open for business this week.

For the past month, John E. Stanek, who will be the local manager, has been busy stocking up and caring for the many details in the complete rebuilding of the yard. A completely modern new lumber shed has been constructed, and a new attractive office and display room is far ahead of construction schedules, thanks to the mild winter weather. The new office will be completed within the month, meanwhile customers will find complete Hines service in the old office at the rear of the property.

Tht Mount Prospect Yard is the twenty-fifth branch yard of the Edwrad Hines Lumber Co., serving Chicago and suburbs. The Hines Company was founded by the late Edward Hines Sr., in 1892 at 2431 S. Wolcott ave., where the large 27 acre Main Yard is still located. Besides operating the largest retail lumber organization in the country, the Edward Hines Lumber Company has two large saw-mills and a plywood plant in Oregon; and today, heading up the management as President is Charles M. Hines, son of the founder, who is himself a veteran of over 25 years service.

Fewer Eggs

The 1953 outlook forecasts smaller egg production than in 1952, but supplies still ample for the expected demand.

Believe It Or Not — Cook County Board Cuts Tax Rates

For the first time in 23 years, abatement of 1952 county corporate fund taxes was ordered by the board of commissioners last Friday.

The reduction in the levy, payable this year, amounts to $820,-191. It comes about because last year the county collected that sum more than $10,000,000 from other governments and private sources for care of indigent patients in County hospital and Oak Forest infirmary.

Under state law, the tax abatement is required when such contributions top $10,000,000.

Reflected in the tax rate, this will mean about four-fifths of a cent reduction. The total tax levy is over $41.4 millions of which $25 million is for the corporate fund.

In more routine action, the board also authorized a $4,334,-000 abatement in the 1952 bond and interest tax which stands at $7,000,000.

Tuesday, Feb. 10, North school, starting at 9:30 a.m. and again at 1:20 p.m.

Visit Arlington High

Dr. C. W. Sanford, director of the Illinois curriculum program, and Dr. Eric Johnson, co-director, visited the Arlington Heights high school January 20 to inspect projects in curriculum development and to confer on curriculum improvement.

After their conference with faculty members of the high school, they announced that Reuben Conrad, curriculum director, and Jane Mahin, common learnings instructor, would be made available as consultants to other programs in the state. Consultants are to be made available to Roderick McLennan, for his geometry project, and to Alfred Snap, for his developmental reading program.

The state curriculum program was started five years ago by a number of interested professional groups; its purpose was and is to study the curriculum and find ways of improving it. The work was recently taken over by the state government, and is now supported by government funds. The directors of the program are members of the faculty of the school of education of the University of Illinois.

The local school has been active in the program from the start. About 70 schools are participating and 20 of these have several projects in operation.

Plan Changes In Rezoning Of Rural Areas

The long awaited modernization of the Cook county zoning ordinance for unincorporated areas was put into motion Tuesday when a sub-committee of the county board of commissioners delegated Albert J. Mullins, director of the county building and zoning bureau to direct the massive task.

Cooperating in the drafting of the new zoning ordinance will be the board's sub-committee, headed by Commissioner John Duffy, who met Tuesday with Mullins and James Jamieson, supervisor of the building and zoning bureau, John Fisher of the Chicago Regional Planning Association, Walter Popjoy, secretary of the zoning board of appeals and Assistant State's Attorney, Martin Handelman.

The faults of the present zoning ordinance were brought to the attention of the board when E. F. Schoppe, an Elk Grove farmer, was compelled to have the land on his farm occupied as a two story residence rezoned as business property. The suggested change would provide multiple uses of some classes in which only one is now permitted.

In this case, the county board had to rezone a farming tract to business use so that the farmer could continue to use a two-story house on his land as a multiple family dwelling. "Such use," said Commissioner Duffy, "is not permitted in a farming district nor in residential districts."

Changes in the existing trailer camp ordinance is another reason for the revision in order to protect the expanding residential districts.

Elimination of spot zoning with substitution of area zoning is another possible change.

Another change, which may not be popular in the rural districts is the holding of all hearings in the court house, not in the township in which the property is located.

Trailer camp ordinances enacted in other states will be studied with an eye toward elimination of the problem in Cook county through similar legislation where it has proved effective.

Duffy ventured that the job of preparing just the rough draft of a new zoning ordinance will probably take six months.

On February 10 the Belpulsi's will feature jiggering a plate and decorating. Lake Forest's weekly television program is a feature of WBKB and part of the "Operations New Horizons" series.

Firemen Complain Over 'Jamming' Of Telephone Fire Calls

The prompt answering of fire calls by Arlington Heights firemen is being prevented by the growing practice of non-firemen dialing the fire station after the siren is sounded.

The telephone company has installed a special contrivance which enables firemen who hear the siren to learn at once the location of the fire.

Reecntly after the sounding of the siren, unauthorized persons have been dialing the fire station which gives the busy signal to the fire department members who are expected to use their phones to learn the location of the fire.

"It may be your house on fire next time," says Fire Chief Winkelmann, "and the arrival of the equipment properly manned may be delayed because somebody out of curiosity is tieing up the telephone line."

It is hoped that with the publication of the above facts the practice will end.

Travelogue To Take Adventure Students On Atlantic Coast Tour

Julian Gromer will present his newest travelogue, "The Atlantic Coast" before the travel and adventure class Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 8 p.m., in the girls' gymnasium of Arlington Heights high school.

The film will show the Inland Waterway from New York City to Miami, Key West and 80 miles into the ocean to the Dry Tortugas. This new travel film is the first and only complete coverage of this important part of the United States. It is filled with adventure, plenty of humor, a variety of subjects, industries and accurate colors. One of the favorite highlights of every Gromer film is the gay and wholesome humor which is enjoyed by all ages. This outstanding picture is complete with a timely narration and background of hi-fidelity music.

MR. GROMER used his own moto boat to add thrills, adventure and humor along this scenic waterway. The success of this boat trip was due to past experience in driving his outboard racing hydroplane which won for him 37 prize trophies.

Among the highlights is an "old salt" and his pet monkey who help make plans for the cruise to the Dry Tortugas. There's plenty of excitement when a 600 pound porpoise is caught by hand in the Florida Bay by Mr. Gromer. This was the first outboard cruiser to make the run to these tropical islands set in crystal clear waters.

Church Youth Groups To Hold Service Sunday

Youth groups from several churches of the Arlington Hts. township high school area will hold an interdenominational service Sunday evening, February 1, as the climaxing event of annual Youth Week observance.

The service will begin at 8 p. m. at the South church, Community-Baptist, 501 S. Emerson st., Mount Prospect.

Guest speaker for the youth service will be Rev. Ben Richardson, head resident of Beacon House in Chiacgo. Mr. Richardson, a Negro, is well known to the Chicago area as an outstanding speaker and teacher. His sermon will contribute to youth's understanding of the theme for the year, "Strive to Know — Dare to Believe."

Presiding at the service will be Fred Welsh, president of the Senior Youth Fellowship at South church. Others participating will be Joanne Shelkop and Tom Bowersox of the Arlington Hts. Methodist church, Jim Thompson of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church, Carol Swanson of Mount Prospect Community Presbyterian church, Charlene Ledyard of the Prospect Heights Community church and Edward Fritz of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church, Arlington Hts.

It is expected that several other church youth groups will be in attendance. The combined Chapel and Choristers youth choirs of South church will sing two anthems. Following the service a social time will be held in the fellowship hall with Miss Patricia Kule of Arlington Heights as song leader.

CORRECTION

The name of Mrs. William Hannum as a block captain in the Arlington Park subdivision for the Mothers' March on Polio drive, was erroneously omitted from last week's story.

Ask Rural Patrons To Put Names On Boxes

Episcopal Church Holds Annual Parish Meeting

St. Philip Episcopal church of Palatine had its annual parish meeting January 18. It began with a dinner at 6:30, prepared and served by the Woman's auxiliary.

A written and oral report was presented by Mrs. Harold Lommen, president, concerning the activity of the Woman's auxiliary for the past year and its plans for 1953. Mrs. David Rotroff told the meeting about the work of the Altar Guild. Miss Helen Jennings reported statistics, plans, and needs of the church school. In the absence of the parish treasurer, Jackson Boughner listed the receipts and disbursements of the parish for the year 1952. Quentin Ford, the new treasurer, presented the 1953 budget.

The nominating committee, headed by Vern Emrich and including Palmer Bissell, David Terrill, James Seiler, and Harold Lommen, presented a slate for the election of wardens and vestrymen. Failing nominations from the floor, the slate was accepted by the meeting and is as follows: Emory Moore, senior warden; Ralph Rockwood, junior warden; vestrymen (for 1 year term), George Gschwindt, Quentin Ford, Leslie Inglis, James Seiler; vestrymen (for 2 year term), David Terrill, Palmer Bissell, Carl Peterson, Donald Scott; vestrymen (for 3 year term), David Rotroff, Arthur Johnson, William Iber and Vern Emrich.

Father Foote then gave his annual report, which included statistics, parish program past and future, and the building program. (AP

CIRCLING THE TOWN
BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Arlington's newest group devoted to one specific cause is the auxiliary for the Park Ridge School for Girls, formed recently under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Ball.

The name, at least, of the school is known to many Arlington women who have assisted in projects for it sponsored by the Woman's club, donations of jelly, for instance.

The school is definitely not for delinquent girls, but instead helps those from broken homes, whose parents are unable to provide for them adequately. On campus-like grounds on a 40-acre farm just outside of Park Ridge, the girls live a home life similar to any boarding school. There is a major difference, however, for a large emphasis is placed on their acquiring useful skills. Homemaking — cooking, sewing and housekeeping — is placed at the top of the list, and business courses are also given an important place in the curriculum.

The girls, who range in age from 11 to 18, live in homelike cottages. Though their food is cooked in a central kitchen, it is eaten in the attractive dining room of each cottage. School classes are held in a separate building for all except high school seniors, who attend Maine township high school.

A recreation program, with gymnasium work and an outdoor swimming pool for summer sport, is also provided.

Some 25 percent of the funds to run the school is provided by parents and by the county offices referring girls. The Chicago Community fund provides some assistance as does income from investments and trust funds. Still, nearly 35 per cent of the money needed has to be raised by individuals and groups. Here is where the various auxiliary clubs come in.

Mrs. Ball, who is a member of the board of directors of the school, mentioned the situation to several of her friends, and their response was enthusiastic. The 14 members decided to raise $4 each by their next meeting, to be held this coming week. They were sponsoring bridge parties, a television party for the inauguration, a dessert bridge, etc.

Other officers are Mrs. Harry Keeley, secretary; Mrs. Bruce Fullerton, treasurer, and Mrs. William P. Utermohlen, publicity.

Lights On

Tonight is the night when all porch lights in Arlington Heights will be turned on at 7 p.m. to welcome the workers of the Mothers' March on Polio. At least, the workers hope all the lights will be on.

The Mothers' March is part of the annual campaign for the March of Dimes, sponsored by the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. It helps to provide the funds for the continued fight against polio, a fight about which mothers feel especially strong.

Mrs. F. P. Sesterhenn is the general chairman of the drive.

IN MEMORIAM

Dean W. Smith, my dear husband's 70th birthday, February 2.

Today, on your birthday your star shines so brightly, God's way of telling me you are happy, For he knows how much I love and miss you, With God's help I hope and pray That we shall meet never to part again; May your soul rest in peace.

Your loving wife,

Talent Teen Troop To Be Revived Soon

Good news is in the offering this week for former members of the Des-Mount-Arl Talent Teens, as well as other talented youngsters living in this area. Mrs. J. M. Bosch, director of the troop, feels she is now able to revive the troop and hopes to hold auditions sometime in Mar.

The Talent Teens were made up of youngsters who could sing, dance, play an instrument, or do any other kind of entertaining act. Mrs. Bosch, with the help of several assistants, then whipped this talent into a lively show and the Teens presented it to hospitalized veterans, residents of the old folks' homes, and children's homes.

THE TROOP also gave one or two benefits for the general public in Arlington Heights, the proceeds of which helped finance a week end trip to veterans' hospitals in Mattoon and Marion, and for the soldier's and sailor's orphan's home in Bloomington. Their songs, dances and music brought cheer into the life of hundreds who otherwise had no opportunity for entertainment of this sort, especially with children as the main participants.

"It was a worthwhile cause," said Mrs. Bosch, "and I feel the Teens, as well as myself, would like to get the show back on the road again."

Former Talent Teens, as well as other youngsters who are interested in joining the troop will be invited to attend the auditions. A definite date has not been set, but as soon as further information is available it will be published in this paper.

Gems Of Thought

CHARACTER

The beautiful in character is also the good, welding indissolubly the links of affection.
—Mary Baker Eddy

Character is that which can do without success.
—Emerson

Character is what you are in the dark.
—Dwight L. Moody

A man never shows his own character so plainly as by the way he portrays another's.
—J. P. Richter

It's not the brains that matter most, but that which guides them — the character, the heart, generous qualities, progressive ideas.

PS Co Stockholders To Vote In March

Directors of Commonwealth Edison and Public Service called special meetings of their stockholders for March 17 to vote on the merger of Public Service into Edison, Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of both companies, announced.

Edison stockholders will be asked also at this meeting to elect present directors of Public Service as members of the Edison board to take office upon the effectiveness of the merger.

The plan of merger had previously been approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission. The merger, largely a formal step because of Edison's ownership of more than 99.87% of the stock of Public Service, is, Mr. Freeman said, the final step of the program of corporate simplification and integration which has been going on for the past 15 years.

THE United Citizens Party has been organized for the purpose of providing answers to the great and growing problems resulting from the rapid growth of Arlington Heights.

This growth must be orderly and well managed if Arlington Heights is to fulfill the hopes and meet the needs of its citizens . . . if it is to retain its essential residential character . . . and if property owners are to be given adequate protection against loss of property value.

The United Citizens Party recognizes that the interest in the healthy, progressive, well-directed growth of our community is shared by all segments of our population. To that end, a ticket of citizens truly representative of these many and varied interests has been formed to carry on the vital work of better government for Arlington Heights. These men stand ready to serve their community on the basis of the forward-looking platform presented herewith.

All Interests United,

To Serve the Best Interests of All!

THE PLATFORM

The United Citizens Party

• • • pledges to maintain the residential character of our Village. Arlington Heights is a community of proud homeowners. This condition must be encouraged and protected.

• • • urges close cooperation with the government of neighboring villages in working to prevent industrial development in this general suburban area.

• • • favors taking immediate steps to reduce the present vacant industrial districts within the Village by rezoning to residential.

• • • promises cooperation with all interested parties in promoting an aggressive program of expansion of the business district, with due emphasis on provision for adequate parking for shoppers and commuters.

• • • declares that water bills are too high, and pledges to work for reduction of water rates.

• • • promises to proceed immediately with the business of employing a qualified Commissioner of Public Works, to enable Trustees to give more time to policy matters, and to bring greater economy and efficiency to the operation of the various departments of the Village.

• • • promises appointment of qualified representatives of all sections of the community to committees and commissions of the Village. These groups must represent a true cross section of the Village population.

• • • recommends development and adoption of a long-range capital improvement program for the Village which would be reviewed annually in public session.

• • • recommends immediate preparation of a new zoning ordinance that will guarantee an orderly development of the Village and safeguard existing real estate values.

• • • recommends elimination of all spot zoning, to promote uniform and desirable property development.

• • • promises to work toward improvement of the building code and to support its enforcement.

• • • accepts and endorses the Master Plan Report for the Village, submitted by Stanton and Rockwell, Town Planners, as a basis for the future development of Arlington Heights. It seeks to promote orderly, not haphazard, growth of the community.

• • • pledges cooperation with taxing bodies (such as School Board and Park Board) in order that plans for needed development may be intelligently coordinated.

• • • urges most sincerely the aggressive promotion of unity among the various interests of the Village. The welfare of the community calls for sympathetic understanding between commuters, commercial interests, property owners, and residents. Recognizing that real progress will require the full cooperation of all citizens, it is pledged that the Village Board will lead in a program of united action designed to put real meaning in the term "The City of Good Neighbors."

• • • and finally, the United Citizens Party pledges to keep the citizens of Arlington Heights informed of its plans, its problems, and its progress, at all times.

ARLINGTON-GLENBARD TO MEET IN FOUR GAMES THIS WEEK

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

THERE WILL BE ONLY ONE all-conference team selected by Northwest conference coaches starting with the team picked at the close of the present basketball season. The coaches at a recent meeting pledged themselves to refrain from making selections for Chicago papers as individuals and promised to fill out only the conference questionnaire. One all-star team will be picked and submitted to all papers at the same time.

The plan will be for each coach to submit the names of boys on his team whom he wishes to place in nomination for all conference with information about them. All boys nominated will be listed and sent to all basketball coaches.

Each coach will then select an all-opponents team. A committee will tabulate the results and issue a press release which will be the official Northwest team.

The committee to handle the basketball selections is composed of Dick Scott, Antioch basketball coach; Paul Lewis, athletic director of Grant, and Tom Meneguin, Bensenville athletic director and football coach. The team will be selected within two weeks after the close of the conference schedule.

AROUND THE LUNCHEON TABLE at the recent meeting of the principals of the association of suburban conferences at the Palmer House there were many comments about basketball rules and other matters concerning sports. Al Willis, secretary of the high school association, stated he hoped to be able to name the basketball tournament centers and the placing of schools in tournaments, during the month of December next year in order to avoid the annual criticism that comes from those who happen to have strong teams in the same regional or sectional.

The only problem causing the delay in assigning teams is the waiting to find out just how many and which schools want to enter tournament play.

Willis stated the fouls unlimited rule tried as a holiday tournament experiment was very unpopular. He said the new free throw rule which came in this year had a lot of opposition at the beginning of the season but is now being favored by a majority of the coaches.

FRANK COLE, Ela-Vernon's six foot five center and a high ranking conference scorer, did not play against Bensenville Friday night. It seems Cole is an outstanding musician as well as basketball player and is a member of the Chicago area youth orchestra. He has applied for a music scholarship at Northwestern University and could not pass up a concert which would have a bearing on this scholarship.

He was advised to put music first by Ela-Vernon authorities when so much was at stake though it might have meant a basketball defeat.

However, Glenn Chaffin, star football end and sub cage forward, took over at center and turned in a sparkling performance with 16 points which decided the basketball game in Ela's favor over Bensenville, 68-59. So a shift which looked fatal to Ela's cage chances turned into more than another victory, for Coach Norm Ladd found he has a star player in the making in substitute Chaffin. We hope Cole gets his scholarship to make the results perfect.

TOM BOWERSOX certainly set some sort of a record for Arlington against LaGrange Friday night when he made 11 free throws of 11 attempted. Teammate John Eakins sank eight of nine in the same game as the squad hit successfully on 32 of 39 attempts . . . With no game for the Cardinals Saturday night, some local fans are certain to be driving down to the Stadium to see Loyola meet Louisville and Notre Dame oppose DePaul in the third of six college doubleheaders in the big city . . . When Coach Ken Schaller's junior-varsity edged Crystal Lake Saturday night it was the first win for that Heights squad. Arlington is perhaps the only school in these parts with a JV squad completely separated from the varsity reserves, sophomores, etc. Saturday was the first time the five met another school with no varsity regulars or reserves on the JV team.

THE SUCCESS currently being enjoyed by the '52-'53 edition of Coach Greg Sloan's basketball team is due in part, to the fine grade school cage system which functions around La Grange and Western Springs.

The La Grange recreation commission under the direction of Chuck Cassel, annually sponsors a grade school league which is climaxed by an elimination tournament.

In 1949 the Cossitt eighth grade team, led by Joe and Leon McRae, and Rich Caffey captured this tournament by defeating a Congress Park team on which Nate Smith performed.

These boys have now developed into members of the Lion cage team which is currently rated second in Illinois. Juniors Ted Caiazza and Chuck Sedgwick helped Cossitt the following year along with Harold Caffey and Willard Johnston.

Joe Lawlor got his start at St. Francis while Dave McKeag and Wayne Kennedy attended McClure. Ron De Santis and Russ Blake from Oak and St. John's complete a roster which shows representatives of all local grammar schools.

ONE OF THE BEST GAMES coming up in this area is scheduled for February 21. Mark that date on your calendar for watching Leyden play at Barrington. The Eagles have taken 14 of 16, losing only to Kankakee and Thornton. Barrington has lost only to Hebron and Pekin and has strong possibilities of going all the way to the state tournament.

We think Leyden is the only team they still must meet capable of giving them a close ball game before they reach the sectional tournament.

THE DAY OF THE SMALL GYMS in the Northwest conference is nearing its end. Antioch is in a fine new regulation 50 by 84 foot court this season while regulation layouts are under construction at Palatine, Ela-Vernon, and Northbrook. Wauconda has always had a good sized court.

Grant and Bensenville, who have lost out in bond issue referendums a couple of times, still have little prospect of improving limited facilities for several years at the earliest.

THE NORTHWEST SUBURBS are not the only part of the Chicago area growing in population. Down on the southwest side of the city growth in recent years has been so heavy that enough new high school districts have been organized to form a completely new athletic conference. The new schools and their expected enrollment next year are Reavis 600, Oak Lawn 950, Rich Township 750, Bremen Township 900, Orland Palos 500, and New Lenox 450.

Second At Stake As Palatine Is Host To Ela

Second place is at stake and a chance to stay in the championship race when Ela-Vernon's basketball team comes to Palatine Friday night. Palatine has a 6-1 record, just behind Antioch's undefeated Sequoits in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions of the conference. Right behind the Pirates are the Ela Bears with 5-2 records with both teams.

In their first meeting at Lake Zurich in November Palatine won both games by one point margins. Aside from that game the only defeats for either were administered by Antioch's leaders.

Ela played without Frank Cole, their big center, in Friday's game with Bensenville but Glen Chaffin took his place and tallied 16 points so Coach Ladd has a strong replacement in case any of his regulars foul out. Dee Busch and Bob Stockinger at forwards, Cole at center, and Don Prouty and Mac Shroyer at guards have been the Ela starters.

PALATINE SET a fast pace against Grayslake last Friday due to Pete Abramson's hot shooting, but the team had only 28% from the field. Saturday they shot only 14% with their main scorer, Paul Schrage, getting only five baskets total in the two games. Schrage has been in a slump the past month and is due to break out with a flock of baskets. Coach Moylan has been using Schrage and Meyer at guards, Busch at center, Abramson at one forward and Breyer, Hauseman, and Abrahamson changing off at the other forward post.

Palatine's only hope of getting into the championship picture is to win all their remaining games, including the all important clash at Palatine with Antioch's leaders Friday, February 13. Aside from the Antioch game, Ela-Vernon this Friday looms as the most dangerous opponent.

BENSENVILLE will be the favorite in a home game Friday with Grayslake. The Bisons were losers in an earlier meeting but Coach Novatny's charges are much improved since that late November defeat. If the Bisons can stop John Hook as effectively as did Palatine they will have no trouble winning, for high scoring Dick Syzmonik and Bert Heuer are sure to bring the Bensenville point total high enough for a victory.

Offensively both squads hold a 55 points a game average. Bensenville has a slight defensive edge of 56 to Grayslake's 60 points.

The Bisons thus far have defeated Grant and Wauconda, while the Rams whipped Wauconda and Bensenville. The winner of this contest will be in a tie for fourth place with Grant.

Antioch should have a breather for the smooth working Sequoits are host to winless Wauconda. In the last five games a different Antioch player has been high scorer each time. That, along with the fact that Antioch consistently has more free throw chances than their opponents, is the secret of their success.

Grant, winner over Wauconda last Friday, will be idle this week.

Little 7 Basketball

The first round of competition among the B teams of the Little Seven has been one of close ball games. Mount Prospect took Wheeling, 34-31; St. James downed Prospect Heights, 21-16; and St. James edged St. Paul's, 21-16.

In the A Division Mount Prospect looks especially good, having no trouble with the other three teams in the league.

Card Wrestlers Almost Catch Evanston, 24-18

Muscles were rippling happily this week in Arlington Heights high school as the wrestling squad doused Palatine, 40-6, then almost caught Evanston Tuesday afternoon, 24-18. The latter school finished third in the state last year and was known to have its best balanced squad in history this season.

Coach Dick Mudge was a happy man for the Cardinal and White when "his boys" performed creditably and showed they are fast becoming a power in high school wrestling circles. When Norb Sargent decisioned Cole of Evanston at 120 pounds the meet immediately took on aspects of a close affair rather than just a good showing by Heights.

Cole was runner-up in the state last year.

HEIGHTS GAINED a pin and three decisions against Evanston. Two matches ended in draws. Sargent, Milnamow and Schaeffer won decisions just before Bob Butler pinned his opponent in the meet held at Arlington Heights.

The Palatine affair, an evening meet in the "cracker box gym," was a runaway for Arlington as expected. McCreery and Bessemer gained decisions for Palatine, but from then on it was all Heights, 40-6.

Looking particularly good for Palatine were Burden at 175 and B. McKee at 145.

Irv Hahnfeldt Bowls 715 Series

Irv Hahnfeldt rolled 715 Friday night in the Palatine House league to establish a few records for bowlers of this area to aim for as his squad, Haseman Truckers, rolled 2959. The squad had games of 943-1018-998.

The 715 is tops for Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, possibly the highest league series ever rolled at Palatine, particularly the past several years. Irv fashioned games of 233-246-236 to reach his total. The squad series was also the record for the alleys.

Other series for the Haseman squad included Warren Perry with 592, Howard Olson 566, Marvin Perry 524 and Carl Huber 572.

IRV'S MARK also set a record for Paddock Publications' 600 Club. Previous high series were two 688s, rolled by Marvin Perry December 19, and by Hank Dreyer November 4.

Irv has now made the 600 Club nine times, eight on series and once via 278. His average for his series memberships is 639.

In the same league, in addition to another loop, rolls Albert Parkhurst who has also made the 600 Club nine times, six on series plus games of 258-274-279. His series average is also 639, having hit 619-624-627-643-646-675. Hahnfeldt has hit 603-610-614-615-646-657-664-715.

High game for the 600 Club was rolled Monday night, a 287 by Bob Lonze.

TO DATE there have been 128 memberships granted in the 600 Club. Men have accounted for 111 of them, with Hazel Burnier holding four of the 17 women's memberships, averaging 574 in her series. She holds the top women's series to date, 609, rolling with Winkelman Tire & Battery in Women Keglers league at Arlington Heights.

High game for the women has been 244 by Ethel Mueller while competing for Blatz Beer in Lady Wheelers league at Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes.

Most popular series in the 600 Club has been 604, which has been reached seven times. Totals of 603 and 610 have been reached six times each, while 614 and 615 rank next, five times each.

Men Prove Masters Of Women Bowlers By 7 Paddock Pins

Black's Funeral Home keglers proved too great an obstacle for Emerald Shop women bowlers Saturday night in the Paddock champs vs. Paddock champs match game at Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes. The men won by seven pins.

Black's, representing the Arlington Heights Lions club league, won the Paddock Publication Inter-League Handicap bowling meet January 4 at Heights. Emerald Shop, representing the Women Keglers league in the women's division of the tournament, copped top honors January 11 at Wood Dale.

SATURDAY'S MATCH was arranged to determine grand champion and the men won, though by the skin of their teeth. In the tournaments the women's averages were 18 pins higher than those of the men, but the latter demanded no handicap, asserting they wanted to win the championship fair and square.

The girls took the first game, 774-731. The men dropped one pin to cop the second, 730-696, and go into the final deciding contest short nine sticks.

IN THAT final sponsor Dick Black notched 211, followed by Quentin Ford with 91. Herb Hackbarth came through with 155, John Flaherty 168 and Fred Jasper 169. Meanwhile, for the girls, Edna Drewes hit 184, Esther Horcher 133, Inez Cizek 152, Grace Hauck 142 and Toni LaBant 169. The men won, 794-778.

Series totals:

Black's: Black 515, Ford 343, Hackbarth 404, Flaherty 464, Jasper 529, 731, 730, 794, 2255.

Emerald Shop: Drewes 457, Horcher 439, Cizek 452, Hauck 437, LaBant 463, 774, 696, 778, 2248.

St. Peters	17	13
St. Paul	16	11

Cards Still Out To Gain First League Victory

by BOB PADDOCK

The golden goose of opportunity hasn't laid many eggs on the gym doorsteps at Arlington Heights high school this year, but one is being dropped this Friday which local fans hope can be hatched. Arlington meets Glenbard on the basketball court four times.

The Cardinal and White have four squads plying the basket trade this season with all of them already gaining an even split with Glenbard earlier in the year. Two victories were gained by the sophomores, 40-32, and the freshmen, 60-24. Two losses were suffered by the Arlington varsity, 59-52, and the junior-varsity, 49-43.

NO. 1 OPPORTUNITY, naturally, rests with the varsity. The squad has yet to win a West Suburban league victory but still rates a chance to pull one or two out of the fire now that LaGrange is gone 'til next season. Spirit is still surprisingly high for a team that has won just three of 15 games.

But four of those losses were by two, four, seven and four points and could easily have gone the other way. Riverside-Brookfield, Hinsdale and Downers Grove are still to be played on the local court with Glenbard, York and Maine all to be be met on foreign ground.

THE FROSH-SOPHS are definitely still in the running for league honors. The entire conference is about even in this division. Arlington has lost the last two conference clashes to Downers Grove by four points and to LaGrange by six. Previously the young Cardinals edged LaGrange by a single basket.

Earlier the locals beat Glenbard by eight, Riverside-Brookfield by two in an overtime, Hinsdale by six and Maine by eight. They lost to York by four.

In the entire frosh-soph division of the league 22 of 32 games have been decided by less than ten points. Three have been one pointers, three have been two-pointers, three have been three-pointers. Decided by four and six points have been two each, with eight points deciding three contests and nine twice.

GLENBARD'S UPSET of York Thursday night brought the Elmhurst five back into a tie with Downers Grove for a 6-2 slate. One game back is Coach Maurice Klotz' five wth LaGrange and Maine tied in fourth spot.

This week's games for both frosh-sophs and varsity find Hinsdale at Downers Grove, LaGrange at Riverside and York at Maine, in addition to Arlington at Maine. Saturday morning the Arlington JVs and frosh play host to Glenbard.

Heights wrestlers entertain Palatine Tuesday afternoon with the Pirate first year cagers hosting Heights Wednesday afternoon.

Rolls 287 Game

Bob Lonze bowled the four year high single game in league play Monday night at Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes when he spared, rolled ten strikes, then hit seven for a grand 287. His series was just 587, however. Bob rolls for Roll King in Our Lady of the Wayside league. He has a 148 average.

Palatine held on to second place in the Northwest conference in both divisions just behind undefeated Antioch as both Pirate teams took their sixth league victories in seven starts at the expense of Grayslake on their home court Friday night. The varsity won, 61-36, and the frosh-sophs, 31-26.

The expected duel for the scoring lead in the conference between John Hook of Grayslake and Paul Schrage of Palatine did not materialize as Pete Abramson took Palatine honors with 25 points followed by John Busch with 12. Wally Giernoth's 15 topped the scoring for the visitors.

Hook, who led Schrage by nine points going into Friday's game, scored seven for a total of 119 while Schrage's percentage was low as he tallied only nine to bring his score to 112.

Palatine's defense was designed to stop Hook and it was effective as the little five-foot-six Grayslake star got few chances for his long set shots. Schrage, who has been in a scoring slump the past month, was overshadowed by Abramson's hot shooting. The Palatine junior forward made nine from the field and seven or eight from the free throw line to tally more points than he had accumulated in the previous six conference games.

PALATINE TOOK a 14-8 lead at the quarter and maintained it 23-17 at the half. They moved farther in front 36-24 in the third period and then went on a scoring spree for 25 points in the final period. It was Palatine's ninth victory of the season in all games played.

Palatine (61)	fg	ft	p	Grayslake (36)	fg	ft	p

	23	15-26	15		11	14-19	18
Palatine			14	23	36	61
Grayslake			8	17	24	36

The Palatine frosh-sophs were far from sharp as they edged Grayslake, 31-26, in a very low scoring game. Palatine had a poor shooting percentage and, except for the third quarter when Palatine outscored the visitors 10-4, the game was extremely close.

Palatine led 14-12 at the half as Prust and Shutz stole the ball twice in quick succession for easy baskets just before the intermission.

The game was played with but one official due to a mix up in schedules which caused one referee to go to Grayslake. He arrived just before the half of the varsity game with Pat Rooney of Grayslake filling in very capably until his arrival.

Alan Eck had 10 points and Ormel Prust eight for the Palatine frosh-sophs. Moran, Vanderpool, and Beck each had seven for Grayslake.

Ela Defeats Bisons Twice

by GIL CUATRECASAS

Bensenville journeyed to Ela-Vernon Friday night only to lose both ends of a doubleheader program. The Bison varsity, returning to action after a layoff of two weeks, was beaten by a 68-59 count while the frosh-soph cagers were swamped, 61-31, in the evening's opening contest.

The Bears led all the way with Bensenville getting no closer than a tie several times. The host five led 11-8 at the quarter and had stretched the margin to 34-22 by halftime. The Bisons rallied to cut the score to 49-44 in the third stanza, but again lost ground when Dick Szymonik and Tom Walsh fouled out.

ELA'S DEE BUSCH was the top point-maker with a total of 18 while teammates Chaffin and Prouty connected for 16 and 12 respectively. Bert Heuer was the big gun for the visitors with 16 markers and Walsh netted 13 and Szymonik 11. The latter was third ranking scorer in the Northwest conference going into the game.

The hosts seemed to have a good eye for the basket as they won the struggle with their accurate shooting. The Bears connected for 25 of their 63 shots from the field as compared to Bensenville's record of 18 of 59. The BCHS squad excelled at the free throw line, however, with 63 per cent accuracy against 46 per cent for the victors.

Arlington Loses To LaGrange, Crystal Lake

Arlington Heights varsity five lost two more games over the week nd, this time to LaGrange and Crystal Lake. The Lions were overwhelming favorites and performed as foreseen, though accuracy of the locals at the free throw line made more of a game out of it than expected.

At that LaGrange didn't push too hard, and won by 29 points. Saturday night the Cards grabbed an opening period lead and hung on until the third period when the Lakers rushed on via 20-13 and 19-12 point margins.

FREE THROWS paid off for Heights in the LaGrange game Friday night on the local court. Tom Bowersox sank four the opening period, made three more and a basket the second quarter, and finished with four charities the final segment for 11 out of 11. John Eakins also made four the final frame for 8 out of 9. The squad sank 32 of 39.

The Cardinals were below par in the matter of baskets, making good on just 8 of 28 shots. Only Thomas and Eakins made two apiece. They also showed badly in the matter of bad passes, with several of the boys resting on their heels waiting for the ball to arrive.

Heights JVs Win First Game

Combining four good quarters into one complete game finally brought the Arlington Heights junior-varsity cagers victory, a 38-36 affair at Crystal Lake which gave Coach Ken Schaller's five its first win after six straight losses.

At times the Heights boys, none of whom are on the varsity squad, even as reserves as is the case at most other schools, have been able to play good ball for one or two quarters.

BUT SATURDAY night they performed creditably the entire contest, including a ten point lead in the third quarter. The lead was dissipated, however, and the rest of the game was close.

The Lakers led in the first quarter, 11-10, but Heights led at the half, 19-17. This period tally was 30-27. High point for Heights was Dave Ryden with eight buckets and a free throw. High for the losers was Edwards with 17 points.

Niles Upsets Cardinal Frosh

The undefeated season the freshman cagers at Arlington Heights high school have been hanging onto this season went by the boards Friday afternoon at Niles when the Trojans dumped Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's five, 42-33. It was the first loss for the locals after copping six straight.

Niles led all the way after the first quarter, which ended in Heights' favor, 8-6. The hosts took a 15-12 lead at intermission with a 17-6 third period margin putting the game on ice. The locals played without Wayne Malzahn, who was playing with the sophomores Friday and Saturday nights, and John Sujack, who was out with the flu. These two boys have been averaging 11 points apiece.

Shooting was at a low ebb for Arlington with only Randag garnering two buckets. For Niles Febel swished through 13 points and Peterson nine.

Card Sophs Lose, 54-48, To LaGrange

In a game featuring 17 ties after the locals dissipated a seven point margin, the Arlington Heights frosh-sophs dropped a hard fought game to LaGrange Friday night, 54-48.

LaGrange led at the quarter, 13-11. The two squads tied at the half, 23-all, and 38-all going into the home stretch.

With just 70 seconds to go Arlington tied LaGrange, but the Cubs rang up three points, then stalled for the final victory.

LAGRANGE HEIGHT hurt Arlington time after time, though the use of Lynk helped offset the advantage.

Theis was lost on fouls, as was Malzahn before those last 70 seconds which saw Arlington drop behind. Mueller was high for the young Cardinals with six baskets and six of 19 free throws. High for LaGrange was Caiazza with 15 points.

Both Maher and Brumm came through with ten points for Coach Maurice Klotz. Arlington dropped to third, one game out of first.

Leyden Deals Double Loss To Palatine

by GERRY McELROY

The Palatine Pirates dropped their first game on the home court Saturday night as the Leyden Eagles easily won their 14th game of the season, 51-34.

The Pirates were behind only two points at the end of the first quarter but on deadly shooting by Proper and Hey, the Eagles went out in front by nine when the first half ended. Inability to hit the basket caused the Pirates to falter in the third quarter as only six free throws were made while Dave Proper garnered seven to boost Leyden's total to 16 points and a 41 to 22 lead. In the fourth quarter the Pirates made only one basket but outscored the Eagles 12 to 10 as George Cox put in his second string with about six minutes remaining in the game.

HIGH SCORERS for Leyden were Dave Proper with 13, Ed Miller with 12 and Len Hey with 11. For Palatine Paul Schrage and John Busch shared the scoring honors with eight points apiece as the Pirates made only seven out of 50 shots from the field for a 14% average.

Leyden, winner of the recent DeKalb holiday tourney, holds second place in the South Suburban League. They have lost only to Thornton and Kankakee, both of which were league games. The Eagles' next appearance in this area will be at Barrington February 21.

PALATINE'S FROSH-sophs likewise stayed within nine points at the end of the first half but Leyden's greater height and Palatine's poor shooting enabled the Eagles to hold a 38 to 22 lead at the end of the third quarter, and good to win 47 to 24.

The Pirates made only six points in the entire second half, four of which were made by John Goetz, Palatine forward. High scorer for Leyden was Dick Toepke with 11 while Goetz and Alan Eck each had six for Palatine.

Brown Bombers Clown Way To 53-42 Win

A small, but well pleased crowd witnessed the Chicago Brown Bombers clown their way to a 53-42 win over the Wheeling Blackhawks Thursday evening at the Arlington Heights high school gym.

The 'Hawks opened the scoring when Art Horcher scored on a hook shot a few seconds after the opening whistle. But from then on, the Brown Bombers took command of the entire show.

Jim "Nuggy" Watkins, put on a terrific comedy show along with his outstanding play-making, and established himself as the game's outstanding player. Watkins very narrowly missed a field goal on drop-kick from center court.

Johnny Soloman paced the Bombers in scoring, picking up 14 points on seven field goals. Gene Gutter also tallied 14, on three baskets and seven charity throws.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That a genuine and pure affection for God and all mankind fulfills the Commandments and establishes the true incentive for living, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 1. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be LOVE.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah (9:24) "Let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercise loving-kindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth."

Bible selections (King James Version) in the Lesson-Sermon include:

"The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee . . . Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love" (Jer. 31:3; 1 John 4:7, 8).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"The starting-point of divine Science is that God, Spirit, is All-in-all, and that there is no other might nor Mind,—that God is Love, and therefore He is divine Principle . . . All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love" (p. 275).

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

The Parent-Teacher Association in Wheeling school decided to hold a study group. So they looked around for somene to sit in the driver's seat, and there did not seem to be anyone else with nothing to do, so the man in the shadow of the steeple was asked to moderate a study group on "Our School and Its Problems."

A little preliminary research suggests that our school has a basic problem which is shared by a number of other schools, as well as a number of villages, and a lot of families—there is not much wrong that a little money won't cure.

THE COST OF equipment is higher than it used to be; the price of services has increased. Many of us want more services from our schools than the one-room country school was able to offer. And in our area, the school population is increasing in greater measure than the general population or the birth rate.

There is no likelihood that the influx of people to the suburban towns will slow down in the forseeable future. Northwest Cook county, for instance, jumped almost ninety per cent from 1940 to 1950, and is still increasing. 1952 set a new record for children born; so that 1957 should see even more children entering kindergarten than 1952 did. (School boards take note, and tremble).

More children, more of them in our area, and more educational services mount up to an increase in school costs. Add the fact that the teaching profession is slowly reaching a rate of pay comparable to the responsibility we entrust to them, and it begins to be clear that educational costs are not likely to come down in the forseeable future.

IS THERE AN answer to the need apart from an increase in taxation? Everybody wishes there were. But it appears unlikely. New building may add to the total assessed valuation, but new buildings usually add to school population. Where it costs about $200 to educate a child for one year, a house with two children will, in most cases, require more educational service than it pays for. Of course, industrial building helps to meet the increased costs, but most residential communities are cool to industrial expansion.

One should also endeavor to estimate the value to the community of capably-taught children, but that is another side of the coin that will have to be looked at, another time.

Tips, Bonuses All A Part Of Income For Tax Purposes

Everyone having a gross income of $600 or more in 1952 must file a federal income tax return. This applies to all individuals whether citizens or residents of the United States.

Gross income includes, in general, compensation for personal and professional services, business income, profits from sales and dealings in property, interest, rent, dividends and gains derived from any source whatever.

In this article, attention is focused on compensation for personal services — that is, the type of income earned by rendering personal services to an employer, or the income received by working for someone else.

Such income, of course, includes wages, salaries, commissions, bonuses, the value of board and lodging, tips and other kinds of compensation used by an employer to pay an employee for personal services.

COMPENSATION received by employees may be in the form of goods, groceries, or services of any kind. The important thing is that it be received for services rendered or work performed. When personal services are paid for with property other than cash, the fair market value of such property must be included in the recipient's gross income.

The law requires the taxpayer to include in his wages all tips, gratuities, bonuses and similar payments whether he gets them from a customer or from his employer. Legally these are not gifts even though people sometimes erroneously call them by that name.

Clergymen receive money from different sources, many of which provide taxable income. These sources include salary, marriage fees, baptismal offerings and amounts for conducting funeral services. However, if the money is paid to the church, the income is not taxable.

IN CASES where, in addition to salary, an employee receives meals or quarters as compensation, their value to the employee is taxable income, unless they are furnished for the convenience of the employer. More specifically, the value of meals and lodging furnished by an employer is not taxable to the employee if they are not compensatory to him.

If the employee is required to accept meals and lodging in order to perform his work properly, and this activity occurs when the employee is subject to immediate service twenty-four hours a day, or when he cannot obtain quarters and meals elsewhere without materially interfering with his duties, the value of such meals and lodging is not taxable to the employee.

A minor child is taxable on his income in the same manner as any adult. But no part of the minor's income is taxable to the parent. The parent does not include the minor's income in his (parent's) return.

If the employer provides the employee an expense account or otherwise reimburses him for money spent in connection with his work, other than travel expenses, the employee should add these payments to his wages and then subtract his actual expenses but not more than the reimbursement. Any allowable expense in excess of the reimbursed amount must be treated as "Other Expenses" and itemized on page 3 of Form 1040 under the heading "Miscellaneous." Reimbursed expenses cannot be deducted from wages in computing adjusted gross income if Form 1040-A (yellow form) is used.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

It seems only reasonable to assume that good fortune, leisure and freedom from the constant struggle for material security should be a basis for happiness in marriage. What, you may ask, is more conducive to happiness in the home than plenty of money, good health, and security. The answer to that, surprisingly, is little money, and insecurity.

For one of the basic necessities of a happy marriage is that two partners should need each other.

GIVEN SOMETHING to strive for in common, two people of little means entering marriage have a better chance for a happy married life than two people who have all of the comforts of life, and nothing to sacrifice or strive for. Providing there is a reasonable amount of cooperation between a man and his wife, their struggles together draw them ever closer to each other. They need one another. There is greater opportunity to care for each other, to please each other through kind acts of helpfulness and consideration because, having little, they are more grateful.

Despite hardship and misfortune, poor people or people of moderate means generally live richer, fuller, more satisfying married lives, with a closer relation between parents and children, than people who have plenty.

IT IS not the attainment of wealth and security that brings nuptial happiness, but the mutual struggle for that attainment, the mutual sacrifices, tokens of love and esteem, and the things a couple accomplish as a team that makes their marriage happy.

Often in middle life, after the children are gone and financial security achieved, married couples who have lived twenty or thirty years happily together tend to drift apart. When the need for mutual sacrifice and effort toward common goals is no longer present, it is a very easy thing to do.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—How much space is needed to hold a ton of coal? This information is needed in order to know how big to build a coal bin.

A—A ton of coal occupies 40 ot 45 cubic feet. When building a bin, make it a little larger than minimum size so that it can be pushed back a few feet from the door. A bin measuring 6x8x10 feet would be big enough for nine or ten tons. Bituminous coal takes more room than anthracite.

Q—Statistics show that flying sparks are much less of a fire hazard than they were a few years ago. Is fire-resistant roofing still necessary?

A—Yes. In fact, the decline in the number of roof fires is proof that fire-resistant roofing has done a good job. More than 85 per cent of all the roofing used today is asphalt roofing, according to the Department of Commerce, while National Fire Protection Association records show that the number of fires caused by sparks falling on roofs has dropped 71 per cent in the last 13 years.

Q—How can calcimine be removed from a ceiling?

A—It will usually wash off if warm water is used. If this doesn't work well, put a little ammonia or washing soda in the water.

Q—What is the best way of removing old wallpaper?

A—Use warm water and a broad putty knife. Working in strips from floor to ceiling, sponge the paper with water until the paste is soft. Then scrape off the wallpaper with the knife. Don't press so hard that the knife blade digs into the plaster. If warm water alone won't soften the paste, put a little washing soda in the water, but be careful that none of this solution splashes on woodwork.

Need Closets? Build 'Em!

THERE'S no need of wailing just because your home hasn't enough closets! Fortunately, this shortcoming can readily be cured, especially if there's a man in the house who can use a saw, hammer and other simple tools.

Even in a room without any closet at all, there must be a corner in which the ingenious craftsman can construct one rather easily with the aid of modern building materials. If worst comes to worst, he can use the same construction principles outlined here to build a storage wall or a foot locker.

Materials often recommended for closets and similar built-ins are lumber and Masonite ¼" Presdwood, an all-wood panel which has a reputation for "having what it takes." Made by exploding wood chips, these panels have no grain or knots, they are strong, abrasion-resistant and easily painted.

The only guide needed for making built-ins like closets and cabinets is to use large enough framing, about which your dealer can advise, and quarter-inch Presdwood. The vertical framing members should be 16 inches apart. Joints of the panels may be "eased" slightly with a sandblock, file or beveling plane. A slight gap at the joints is recommended for good installations.

Sliding doors may be made in the home workshop, following the same construction principles, or one may install manufactured doors with Presdwood surfaces finished in long-wearing, beautiful colors. They're ideal especially for a storage wall.

There's no need to be "closet-hungry" when closets are so easily made!

Danny Kaye Film To Introduce Jeannaire

The midwestern premiere of Samuel Goldwyn's Technicolor musical film, "Hans Christian Andersen," starring Danny Kaye, will take place at the Oriental theater February 10.

One of the most delightful surprises in "Hans Christian Andersen," the film filled with unexpected highlights of merriment, music, color and charm, is Jeanmaire, Paris-born ballerina who makes her screen debut. Samuel Goldwyn's elaborate production in color by Technicolor, stars Danny Kaye and Farley Granger at the head of a distinguished cast, and introduces Jeanmaire as their co-star.

Moss Hart wrote the screenplay which was directed by Chas. Vidor. The musical score written by Frank Loesser has eight songs especially composed for Kaye.

Safety Factors On Edens Expressway Cut Accidents 80% While Doubling Traffic

The safety factors engineered into Edens expressway brought reduction in the accident rate during the new road's first year to one-tenth of that recorded on old Skokie highway, it is reported by the Cook county highway department.

Figures were given for 1952 on Edens, which was opened Dec. 20, 1951, and for 1951 on Skokie, the last year of travel over the full length of the old four-lane road. Skokie, which was acclaimed a "superhighway" when built 20 years ago, has been entirely replaced by the new expressway between Illinois road and the Cook-Lake county line, approximately five miles. South of Illinois road traffic on Skokie has shrunk to one-third of its former volume.

TRAFFIC COUNTS in 1952 on the north portion of Edens showed 33,000 vehicles on a typical summer week day, 47,000 on Sunday. Over the same stretch of old Skokie, now eliminated, the comparable figures taken in 1951 were 18,500 on week days and 20,700 on Sundays.

While handling almost twice the traffic — and at 50 per cent higher speed — Edens had slightly less than one-fifth as many accidents as old Skokie. The figures were: Skokie, 488; Edens, 96.

THE IMPROVEMENT, while good, was not what it can be if drivers will cooperate with the engineers in striving for the ultimate in safety, said William J. Mortimer, acting Cook county highway superintendent. Although regulation of expressway traffic is a responsibility of the state, Cook county is interested in promoting safety because the county did most of the design and construction.

"In designing Edens and the new Calumet-Tri state expressway, we tried to attain the utmost in safety," said Mortimer. "Engineers for the state and the federal bureau of public roads, which shared the cost of the project, contributed ideas and we studied the best practices in expressway design in other parts of the country.

"WE HAVE removed the most common causes of highway accidents by separating the roadways and eliminating grade intersections and marginal interference. The value of these features is reflected in the lowered accident rate. However, some accidents still occur. That means that adjustments must be made, either in the expressway or in the drivers."

Motorists in different areas have different driving habits, said Mortimer, and the problem is to develop features in expressway design best suited to the people who use it. Edens was patterened largely after designs which experience elsewhere has proved to be good, but it may reasonably take some time for drivers to become accustomed to it.

"SOME PEOPLE haven't yet learned how to get on and off the expressway," he said. "There are extra lanes at the interchanges to provide safe means of entrance and exit. The engineering terms are acceleration and deceleration lanes, and these designations make it plain how they should be used.

"If the motorist leaving the expressway reduces speed while in the deceleration lane, he is able to go around the spiral ramp well under control. Entering the expressway, he comes in on the acceleration lane, which is long enough to give him time to pick an opening in the moving traffic and to bring up speed so he can enter the current smoothly and safely.

"Some drivers apparently have failed to grasp the idea of the acceleration lane. They try to pusht h ieawryfiaoaF.2e-....ait push their way in. The idea is not to push, but to blend."

TABULATION OF the accident figures showed that three suburbs, Wilmette, Skokie and Lincolnwood, had improvement far above that for the whole area. Figures for all suburbs and for the unincorporated areas traversed by both roads, were:

Lincolnwood	51	3
Skokie	226	25
Northfield	35	21
Wilmette	91	5
Unincorporated	85	42

Figures for each suburb were provided by its police department and those for the unincorporated territory, by the state highway department.

CALL FOR DONORS—Empty blood bottles are arranged to spell out 15,000—the number of pints needed monthly to meet Chicago's quota in the Red Cross Defense Blood Program—by Mrs. Selma Perlman, volunteer nurse's aide at the Chicago Red Cross donor center, 116 S. Michigan Avenue. The need for donors is urgent since blood is in critical demand to save the lives of battle casualties in Korea. Whole blood is flown directly from Chicago to Korea in 40 hours and is instantaneously available for transfusions on the battlefield or in front line hospitals. Donor appointments can be made by calling the Red Cross in Chicago, WAbash 2-7850. The American Red Cross is the official blood collecting agency for the Department of Defense.

Pfc. Peter G. Nickess, Green st., Bensenville, was recently released from active duty with the army at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Nickess was employed as a fireman by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railway Co., before entering the army in January 1951.

He previously served in the army from June, 1947, to March, 1948.

B-29 Navigator Home After 28 Missions

B-29s "aren't what they used to be," said First Lt. Lewis G. Helm, formerly of Arlington Hts., now of St. Joseph, Missouri, who has just been released from the army air corps after a 17 month tour of duty in the Pacific theatre

Lt. Helm completed 28-missions as a navigator with the 9th bomb group, which flies the war-weary bombers out of Okinawa.

"Mechanical difficulties were our biggest headache on those 2,000 mile missions to Korea," said Lt. Helm. "The B-29 is a very old airplane. We haven't manufactured one since 1947. The air force and our headquarters acknowledge that it is obsolete and not suitable for this war. The boys are just scared to fly them."

MANY AMERICAN flyers have been lost because of mechanical failures of these planes.

"An engine would conk out on the way to a target," Lt. Helm said, "and the plane would carry out its mission on three engines. Then, over North Korea, another motor would go out and the ship would go down."

The navigator, who recently received a second oak leaf cluster to his air medal, made one forced landing in South Korea.

"Because the MIGs were just too much for them," the B-29s have been restricted to night missions over Korea. The Communist interceptors haven't engaged in much night combat.

"THE GROUND crews on Okinawa should be considered the heroes of the air war," continued Helm, "since they work 24 hours a day to ready the planes for their 9 to 12 hour missions. They are doing a marvelous job."

"The Nightmare," the name of the lieutenant's ship on Okinawa, had 155 bombing missions, amassed by various crews, was flown back to the states to be reconditioned and prepared for further fighting in the air.

Lt. Helm was recalled into service in August 1951, after having served five years during World War II. He was stationed with the air transport command in China, during World War II, which was engaged in flying the Hump. While stationed in Okinawa he participated in raids on the Yalu river hydro-electric plants. He returned home in December.

WHEN ASKED how he thought the servicemen reacted to President Eisenhower's election, he replied, "The majority were very happy. They have great hopes that the fighting in Korea can be brought to a head soon, without having an all out war."

Lt. Helm, who is married and has two children, Patty, 1½, and Lewis, six months, says he is out of the army for good this time. He hopes to continue with his wild life conservation work in the state of Missouri. Before returning to his home and family, after being released from the army, he spent a few days this week in Arlington Heights, visiting his sister and family, the George Hauffs.

UGLY WARDROBE DOORS?

Don't let a pair of wide wardrobe doors dominate an entire wall in the bedroom and ruin the decorative effect. This not only cuts up the wall space and makes the room look chopped up; it also draws attention from the more important factors in the room.

BLEND THEM IN WITH THE WALL

There are several easy ways to do this. If walls are wallpapered, then use the paper on the door panels and paint the casing the same color as the other woodwork in the room. If walls are painted, paint the doors and casing the same color as the walls to make them less obstrusive.

Woman's Club Announces Writing Contest

To encourage creative writing, the literature department of the General Federation of Women's clubs is again sponsoring a creative writing contest this year.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

Every housewife knows how a tasty potato salad can add zest to a buffet supper, a smorgasbord, or a meal of cold cuts and sandwiches.

Today we are featuring the favorite potato salad recipe of Mrs. Paul W. Crawford of 408 Lonnquist, Mt. Prospect.

This tempting salad is made by combining cubed boiled potatoes with mayonnaise which has been mixed with mustard, minced onion and sweet pickles. It is seasoned with celery sed, salt and pepper. Sliced hard-boiled eggs are added last.

The contributor of this recipe is the mother of four children: Sandra, 15; Paula, 11; Karen, 7, and Paul, 5.

Along with her busy homemaking schedule she finds time to participate in PTA activities and lead a Brownie troop.

Potato Salad

6 boiled potatoes, cubed
4-5 hard boiled eggs
3-4 sweet pickles, chopped fine
1 medium onion, minced
1 tbls. mustard mixed with as much mayonnaise as desired
1 tsp. celery seed
Salt and pepper

Cube the boiled potatoes and mix with the remainder of ingredients, adding the hard-boiled eggs last.

'Golden' Years Are Busy For Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koenig

Folkman Photo

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koenig, 514 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, will be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary with a family dinner and open house February 1.

The dinner will follow the Sunday service at Faith Lutheran church, and the open house, to which their many friends and relatives are invited, will be held from 3 to 5 p. m., at their home. Among the guests will be their six children, sons-in-law and daughter-in-law, 13 of their 14 grandchildren, and two great grandchildren. Mrs. Koenig also expects as guests her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Bultmann, Grant Park, and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kuester of Luzerne, Iowa.

The Koenigs were actually married January 26, 1903 in Woodworth, Illinois. In the past 50 years they have lived in many places, moving after their marriage to Wheaton, Minnesota, where four of their children were born. After 10 years they moved to Luzerne, Iowa, where their other two children were born. They moved to Arlington Heights in 1927.

A carpenter by trade, Mr. Koenig, who was born in Schaumburg May 22, 1872, served in that capacity until the time of the depression. He then secured a job with the Creamery Package Co., where he worked until his retirement seven years ago. However, one can't consider Mr. Koenig retired, since he enters his basement workshop each morning at 9 o'clock and often works as long as 6 p. m., with only a break for lunch.

In this workshop he designs and builds many useful items, from wooden barns for little boys, cradles for little girls, to book cases and cabinets for adults. He also makes many wooden knick-knacks, the majority of which fill a booth each year at the Faith church Ladies Aid bazaar.

Mrs. Koenig, on the other hand, is a seamstress, and finds herself busy sewing new garments and remodeling old, for the many people who need such services. Wednesday, however, is her day off. She spends this time at Faith church, where "The Quilters" meet. This group makes quilts to order as well as for the annual bazaar. At present they have enough orders to keep them busy quilting from now until July. Mrs. Koenig was born in Woodworth January 13, 1886.

Mr. and Mrs. Koenig may be married 50 years, but they are just as busy today as they were in their prime of life. They enjoy doing their jobs and would be lost without them. By the way, in Mrs. Koenig's spare time she manages to wallpaper and paint their apartment.

Their children are: Mrs. Lother (Hulda) Stolper, Madison, Wisconsin; Mrs. William (Wilma) Keiser, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Floyd (Alma) Wolfe, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mrs. Raymond (Bertha) Landmeier, Mrs. Richard (Clara) Wilke and Roland Koenig, all of Arlington Heights.

The only grandchild who will miss the celebration is Allan Wolfe, who is stationed with the army in Korea.

Refreshments will be served under the supervision of Mrs. Harold Weiss and Mrs. Joseph Raffel, tea chairmen.

February 3 is the Feast of St. Blase. Father O'Hara has announced that throats will be blessed in the rectory chapel, 432 S. Mitchell ave., after the 7:15 mass, at 4 p. m., and at 7:30 and 8 p. m.

PREMIER CONCERT

The Northwest Symphony Orchestra gave its premier concert Sunday afternoon at Maine township high school to an enthusiastic audience of nearly 500 persons. Perry E. Crafton, conductor of the new orchestra, proved a master at handling the organization. His musicianship and interpretation of the numbers on the program were flawless.

The orchestra, the youngest of its kind in the Chicago area, had its beginning only three months ago, but under the capable leadership of Mr. Crafton was able to put on a performance of which the orchestra and the community can well be proud.

Mr. Crafton, an outstanding violinist, also teaches and is rapidly becoming known as a conductor. In addition to his regular work in the first violins of the Chicago Symphony, he has appeared as soloist with many orchestras. One such performance is scheduled for February when he will play the Wieniawski Concerto with the Gary Symphony Orchestra.

At present besides being the regular director of the Northwest Symphony, he is taking the rehearsals of the Civic Orchestra while George Schick is conducting the Chicago Symphony.

More than 50 individuals and family groups of the immediate communities are financial backers of the orchestra venture. By becoming associate members and patrons of the Orchestral association they have helped to make it possible to look ahead to having a fine orchestra as a permanent part of the cultural background of communities in this area.

Openings are available for strings, oboe, bassoon, horns, and harp. The second concert will be given in May. Any interested players may contact Mrs. T. H. Ouderkirk.

The legislative program of the association include:

An increase in perdiem fee from $10 to $19 and mileage rate from 5c to 7½c a mile.

An amendment to motor fuel law providing for the distribution of the proceeds from the 5c gas tax as follows: 10% to township, 30% to state,; 30% to counties and 30% to cities and villages.

To raise one maximum tax rate limitation on counties and forest preserve districts.

To give cities and township the right to regulate and enforce speed limits.

To permit county treasurers to withhold 25% of inheritance taxes in place of the present 2%.

To raise the county population figure from 85,000 to 150,000 whereby a county is required to have a probate court, but permitting counties now having probate courts to retain them.

The supervisors and county commissioners have an ambitious program. It calls for nine other changes.

A bill reportedly by another group calls for the publication of delinquent personal property taxes with the exception of Cook county, where it is said the expense would be prohibitive.

● GOOD BYE HARRY

The train is rolling through the outlands
Far from the capitol's stately dome,
Each whistle stop brings little Harry closer,
Closer to the place that he calls home.

Back among the happy scenes of childhood,
Where Missouri's foothills roll and swell,
Back among the folks who know "Our Harry,"
Where they'll say "Our Harry did right well."

Back to see again the boys on Main street,
Amongst cracker barrels, prune bins and the like,
Where he spent the early years of manhood,
Where Tom Pendergast pointed out the light.

Back amongst the gang that set him going,
To reach the highest office in the land,
Where he always knew the boys that helped him
And gave them all a cordial helping hand.

Back to where his friends said often of him
"The job is just too big for Harry's shoes"
But they always stuck with "Little Harry,"
As he played for them the classics or the blues.

But now the mighty splurge is over,
And Harry's rolling back again towards home,
To the peace and quiet of the outlands
From which he'll never need to roam.

Yes, the train is rolling through the outlands
And the whistle stops mean naught to Harry now,
He's back to where a friendly greeting
Is better than the diplomatic bow.

The train rolls into Independence
And Harry's friends are there to see him home,
To take up life again where once he left it,
And America hopes—never more to roam.

● RETIRES

William H. Zoellick of Palatine and Mrs. Zoellick left last week for a few week's stay with friends in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mr. Zoellick retired January first from the freight department of the C & NW railroad where he had worked 36 years.

Bill is also a former Palatine village trustee, having served for eight years on the village board back in the hectic days when being a member of the village board was symbolic of being in hot water all the time. He also served as a member of the official board of St. Paul's church and was a member of the building committee of that church when the present church was built.

Just what Bill is going to do now that he is a gentleman of leisure, we don't know. "Spend a few weeks in that Florida sunshine first," says Bill, and "then look around and see what to do next."

After thirty six years of activity with the railroad, Bill won't find it easy to just do nothing, and he'll probably wind up by spending a lot more time with his roses and in helping out his brother Herman in that big tomato field on east Palatine road.

● WHAT IS STATTICE?

Here is a question for Bill DePue down there in Florida. Bill has been sending up ads for property he has for sale down there and among the crops he lists as growing on the farms, there is "Stattice."

Now what in Sam Hill is "Stattice?" No one up in this country ever heard of it, the seed catalogs and agricultural and floral papers don't say anything about it, the most modern dictionaries don't list it, the farm bureau never heard of it, and in fact, what in the dickens stattice is, is a mystery up in this country.

So now Bill, before you send up any more ads mentioning this crop that nobody ever heard of, please write and tell us what in thunder it is, how it grows, and what it is used for. Is it a human food, a cattle food, a cover crop, or what on earth is it? We are waiting for an answer.

● STILL ACTIVE

The balmy climate of the southland doesn't seem to be slowing down enthusiasm for civic activities of R. S. Williams, former Palatine trustee. The doctor has just been elected president of the New Smyrna Beach, Florida, Chamber of Commerce for the current year.

Doc recently served a hitch as president of the Lions Club of that city and seems to be actively engaged in everything that stands for civic improvement. Dr. Williams, it will be remembered, always was active in civic affairs while a resident of Palatine, having served on the village board, high school board, or on any number of committees devoted to the public good.

Evidently the southern climate hasn't slowed Doc down any in his enthusiasm for civic work and he is devoting a lot of time and energy to community enterprises down there in his new home the same as he did while a resident of Palatine. Besides his dental work and his civic duties, the doctor is reported to be an enthusiastic flower grower and raises some of the finest specimens of roses and other flowers to be found anywhere on some beautiful lots he owns on the Indian river.

● RIVALRY

There has always been a lot of rivalry between Florida and California when it came to the question of climate, fruit crops and the like. The other day we had a letter from George Butler who is sunning himself down in St. Petersburg, Fla:, enclosing a clipping from a Florida newspaper in which they were handing out the extravagant claim that some strawberries coming into market from one of the strawberry growing centers of Florida were as big as California oranges.

Wow, what a claim. Just how funny can that Florida sunshine make a publicity man anyhow? George says that the sun has shone every day since he reached Florida and he hasn't seen any of those free newspapers that one of the St. Petersburg dailies gives away any time that the sun hasn't shown sometime during the day before.

"The sun always shines some part of the day," says George, and he is enjoying himself immensely.

● GIVE UP

Some months ago there was quite a flurry of excitement in these parts at the news that the Alpha Engineering Co. had purchased a tract of land near Palatine and Wilke roads in Wheeling township and proposed to erect an office building and laboratory there where architects would draw plans and certain experimental work would be done. Now comes the news that the company has given up the project and has put their property up for sale.

The reason — objections of the neighbors to anything resembling industry locating in that area.

● RIGHT

The government weather bureau back in December issued a long range forecast predicting that the January weather in this area would be milder than usual. With January pretty well gone, that forecast surely turned out correct. It has been a decidedly open month with the average temperature well above normal for the season.

It's been so mild, in fact, that a lot of skating meets have had to be postponed time after time, and one big meet in the city has threatened to go indoors on artificial ice if the weather man doesn't turn up some skating weather pretty quick.

● MONDAY'S THE DAY

Next Monday is groundhog day when the old boy is supposed to tell us about the rest of the winter. If the mist and fog we've been having doesn't clear up, there won't be any question about his not seeing his shadow. If it does clear off and we get some seasonable weather, he can see his shadow and forecast six weeks more of winter.

But what's six weeks of winter now? By that time the meadow larks will be singing in the fields, the early robins will be hunting for a place to build, you'll hear an occasional flicker or mourning dove and the blackbirds will be flying over the swamps.

There still can be some big storms and snow drifts after that, but they won't last long and spring will be really on the way.

● PROGRESS

From all reports, the drive of St. Theresa's parish for their school fund is making fine progress, the fund is rolling along towards $100,000 which is a fine start toward financing that new school.

With the school situation what it is in Palatine, the advent of the new school will go a long ways toward helping to solve the ever growing problem of what to do with the youngsters.

Any school that will take several hundred children out of the school pool is a big help and not only the members of St. Theresa's parish, but the entire community will be pleased to see that aid to education in the community become an accomplished fact.

Active work on the new educational institution is expected to start this spring and be ready for occupancy probably at the start of school in September 1954.

That is also the date which the consolidated school board are aiming at in their plans for their proposed new building, so if all goes well with the construction of these new schools, the fall of 1954 should see the opening up of accommodations for approximately one thousand youngsters which will help the situation a lot even though the District 15 board will still face the spectre of using those old country schools.

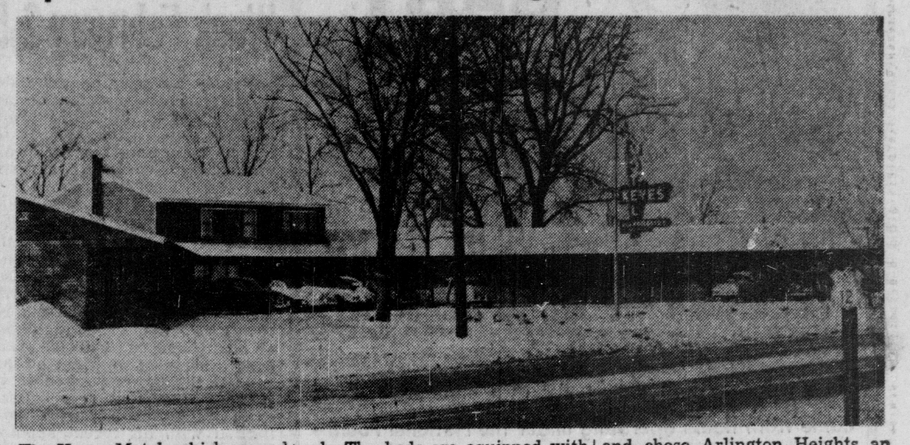

● "CHUCK'S CALENDARS

Folks who have been getting a calendar from jeweler Charles Moore during the last few years, have been receiving not only some beautiful flower pictures, but also lessons on the arrangement of flowers. Each beautiful floral design on the calendar is accompanied by a description of how to arrange the display and what to use in it.

By handing out these educational calendars, "Chuck" is giving the folks not only an opportunity to tell what date it is, but is also contributing a lot in helping the ladies make their homes more beautiful by those lessons in flower arrangement which to a lot of folks is as important as the date sheets on the calendar.

In addition to all this, those beautifully colored floral designs are plenty classy enough for framing and would make an artistic addition to any home room.

Open New Motel On Edge Of Arlington

The Keyes Motel, which opened recently at Rand and Camp McDonald rds., Arlington Heights, has the Rolling Green Country club as the setting for its background.

The motel consists of 18 rental units plus a large four room apartment for the owners. The individual units are large and are beautifully furnished in limed oak. The beds are equipped with Simmons Beautyrest mattresses and box springs.

A radiant heating system keeps the rooms at an even temperature, and all the baths are of ceramic tile and equipped with shower stalls.

Keyes, a former realtor, decided to go into the motel business and chose Arlington Heights an ideal location. Though open only a month, the motel is already doing a good business.

"We've received many compliments from our guests," said Keyes, "and because they were so satisfied they have recommended us to many fellow travelers."

Highway Beauty

Regarding the Editor's Column of January 22, it should have gone a little further. Also on U. S. 14 in Arlington Heights there are gas stations and restaurants whose lots run right into the highway shoulder, no safe sidewalks at all for the pedestrian walking on West Northwest highway in many places.

And mudholes at all the curbs; and coal dust and sand are allowed to choke at least one of the great shade trees a year along West Northwest highway. The worst eyesores in town and where they will be noticed the most. I ask the editor to take a slow ride and look on both sides of him from 200 West Northwest highway out to Patton.

Missing Coat

To parents of children in grades 1-4 and 5th grade in Methodist church who were lunching in the Oak Street school cafeteria in Palatine January 5 — Lunch hour 11:30-12:30. We are still looking for our boy's coat.

It was a pea-coat — size 10, new at beginning of school in the fall, and had just been cleaned during Christmas vacation. The garment left in its place is a larger size and very worn.

WE CONSIDERED this a mistake at first, but for the length of time the coat has been gone and the difference in the garments, we are wondering about it. Our boy has been taught never to take things that don't belong to him. He would not touch the coat left in place of his until given permission from the school office and was told he had to have a coat to wear back to the Wood Street school.

They have tried very hard at school to locate the coat but have not been able to. I was asked to come to Wood Street school to look through the cloak rooms. This I did January 13. No sign of the coat, unless the child having it was absent or not wearing it that day.

WE CANNOT afford to buy a cost every few months, nor afford to clothe someone's child. Our boy feels badly, because he has to wear someone's worn out garment when some child is wearing his good one. He is only a third grader, but has a little personal pride.

To the parents of the child who has the coat — Do you honestly feel your child has the right to keep and wear our boy's coat?

Just return the coat to Wood Street school office. No question will be asked. We do not want to know who has the coat, we just want it back.

TV Benefactor

On behalf of the staff of the Arlington Heights junior high school I should like to take this way of publicly thanking Kermit Bressner, owner of Master Electric on E. Northwest hwy., for his generosity in providing a large screen television set for our use inauguration day, January 20.

Not only did he provide the set for us free of charge, but also sent over two men to erect the antenna on the afternoon before the inauguration, and left the set with us throughout the day so we could have the fullest possible benefits. The 27 inch screen enabled everyone in our gymnasium to see the ceremonies quite clearly and the group of over 400 who witnessed the event were grateful to Mr. Bressner for his efforts on our behalf.

Glenview Wins Suit Against Pre-Fabs Homes

Judge Elmer Schnackenberg in Superior Court recently denied a petition for a writ of mandamus to force the village of Glenview to permit construction of a pre-fabricated Gunnison home.

Judge Schnackenberg ruled that the petitioner had failed to produce adequate evidence to support allegations made in the petition.

The plaintiff claimed that the pre-fab home met minimum standards of strength outlined in the "1947 Suburban Building Regulations" for residences.

The plaintiffs argued that amendments to the building regulations passed by the village board on April 21, 1950, were made with the intention of denying construction of the pre-fab homes in Glenview.

✦ Just Around The Corner ✦

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

No doubt, you have read or heard recently about the groups of interested parents who participated in a study and survey of children's television programs. You probably know too that their findings revealed an appalling amount of violence and bloodshed. The publicity given this survey couldn't help but call to the attention of the sponsors the parents' displeasure, and therefore was a step in the right direction toward the improvement of children's programs.

However, it seems to me, that this is only half the problem, as a matter of fact, less than half the problem.

Children's viewing habits are primarily the responsibility of the parents. It seems as if many parents would like to shift this repsonsibility to the sponsors and producers of children's programs, who are only giving Johnny much of the same thing he sees and hears at the local theatre, on Saturday afternoons.

I SUPPOSE THEY FIGURE Johnny's parents don't object much to (or even know the names of) the movies he sees, so why should they be especially interested in what he watches on the television set?

If parents were willing to take the time to supervise their children's TV viewing, they would find there are educational and harmlessly entertaining proograms for children at almost any time of the day.

On week days, the preschool children have scarcely downed their breakfast before Miss Frances is ready to hold Ding Dong Sschool. During this half hour, she may teach clay modeling, finger painting or seed planting, or perhaps interview some fine musician, who will play his instrument for the kiddies.

By noon, big brother or sister, home from school for lunch, can watch either the Happy Pirates or Uncle Johnny Coons (who, by the way, carefully edits his old time movies).

IN THE AFTERNOON, there is hardly time for the little tots to have a nap and airing, and the older youngsters to arrive home from their after school activities, before Garfield Goose and Friend are ready to show an entertaining cartoon or illustrate an educational story on the magic drawing board.

King Calico and his kingdom of puppets follows shortly after, and by the time this program is over, it is dinner time.

If after dinner, it is not time for bed or lesson getting, parents can surely find some quiz or musical program, among the many to be seen, suitable for the children's viewing for an hour or so.

IT USED TO BE that Saturdays children had a few chores to do — but now things seem to be somewhat different. Anyway, if they don't want to miss any of the entertaining programs, they have to be up and all ready to see Smiling Ed McConnell, with Midnight the cat and Squeaky the mouse, early Saturday morning, followed by The Big Top (circus). In the afternoon, they can see Nature of Things (educational), Laurel and Hardy (comedy), Hobby Time (constructive), Rootie Kazootie (puppet story), and with Mr. Wizard (educational), we reach the end of another televiewing day.

With the reading of the Sunday funnies, followed by the Magic Clown and the Candy Carnival, there is hardly time Sunday morning to squeeze in Sunday School!

However, as soon as the Sunday dinner is finished, Kukla, Fran and Ollie are on, with Zoo Parade, Super Circus and Magic following. If the kiddies aren't cross-eyed by the end of the week end, there are always Gene Autry and Roy Rogers to watch — and regardless of what we may think of cowboys and "westerns," I imagine that these two fellows are here to stay for a while.

SO, YOU SEE, PEG, there is plenty of good and interesting material for little televiewers, and if we parents exercise a little supervision, we can eliminate the poor programs from our TV screens and still keep our children happy.

My love,
Patty,

Point 4 Head At Farm And Home Week February 2-5

Stanley Andrews, administrator of the technical cooperation administration in the U. S. department of state, Washington, D. C., will be the general session speaker Tuesday, February 3, at Farm and Home week in Urbana.

Andrews will tell about the foreign technical aid program, commonly referred to as the Point 4 program, which is designed to help the free nations of the world help themselves along the road to economic recovery. President John Hannah of Michigan State college, previously scheduled to speak at that general session, has asked to be released from that date because of the pressure of duties in connection with his recent appointment as Undersecretary of Defense.

FORMERLY DIRECTOR of the office of foreign agricultural relations in the department of agriculture, Andrews is widely known as an agricultural authority and editor. He has had a varied career since 1940 in government work, and has traveled widely in the countries where Point 4 is being developed.

The point 4 program, in operation about 2 years in the Near East and South Asia, has American technicians in 11 countries in those areas working on projects in agriculture, natural resources developments, health and sanitation and education.

OTHER GENERAL session speakers include President, Geo. D. Stoddard, University of Illinois, February 2. Mrs. Ava Milam Clark, Oregon State College, February 4; and Clarence W. Klassen, Illinois, Department of Public Health, Springfield, February 5.

Keep Constant Check For Electrical Hazards

It takes only one defective electrical connection to endanger your whole house.

Even the safest wiring system is no protection if you do a poor job of putting in a new installation or do a makeshift repair job, says J. W. Matthews, executive secretary of the Illinois rural safety council.

The Council recommends electrical wiring and repairs be checked by a qualified electrician to be sure they are properly installed.

Matthews suggests that you check outside wiring frequently for broken insulators, frayed insulation and loose or sagging wires that might contact trees. Inside the house, you need to watch for defective outlets or switches, loose joints at junctions and damaged insulation or worn fixtures.

When you find an appliance cord that is broken or frayed, replace it right away. Buy high quality and the right type of replacement cords or plugs. Use cords with asbestos insulation for heating appliances and hevy rubber-jacketed cords for motor-operated equipment.

Protect ordinary household circuits with 15-ampere fuses. When a fuse "blows," something is wrong. There is too much load on the circuit or a short circuit somewhere. Find and remove the cause of the trouble before you put in a new fuse, and then use the right size.

Always disconnect the current before you try any electrical repairs.

Wiring Systems Go Underground . . .

Here's How It's Done on Many Farms

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Lights shine and dinner cooks on the electric range in the farm home. Motors hum and water flows in the various buildings. But no wires are visible on the farmstead. A transformer on a roadside pole is the only indication that the farm is connected to the passing high line. It's the same story with a number of farms in various sections of the country. And quite puzzling to those who are used to seeing more concrete evidence of electric service.

The solution, however, is simple. The wiring system has "gone underground." A number of advantages are claimed for such systems. They are said to be more permanent than overhead systems; unaffected by sleet and windstorms, and less susceptible to damage from lightning. Like other wiring systems, however, they should be planned for the future so that few, if any, changes have to be made in later years to provide adequate service to the home and service buildings.

Common types of conductor recognized for use in wet locations, such as Type RW and TW wire, as well as lead covered cable, can be used for underground wiring if installed in conduit. Also there are non-metallic covered cables, known as Type USE-Underground Service Cables, which are acceptable for this purpose. They can be located underground without conduit, except in locations where additional protection is needed.

Where the cable is run up a pole, it should be placed in conduit for a height of at least 8 feet. The same recommendation applies where cable is placed on the side of a building, as when used for outside metering on the residence. When the cable enters the foundation of a building, it usually is run through a piece of conduit placed in the foundation. The cable is wrapped with tar, impregnated jute, or some non-hardening calking compound, stuffed snugly into the conduit. The purpose is to provide a tight seal, thus preventing seepage into the building, and formation of ice in the opening in cold weather.

Also, it is advisable to provide a certain amount of slack in the cables by making a loop or "U" shaped bend in the cables adjacent to the foundation to allow for shifting of the foundation and upheaval of the ground where there are conditions of deep frost.

What, no wires? That's right, but this farm still has electricity. In this case, the distribution system simply has gone underground.

LAW on the FARM

WILLS IN ILLINOIS

Generally speaking, good wills are not as difficult to make as most people believe. Bad wills are nearly always a result of wanting to provide for too many contingencies, hasty preparation, poor wording or failure to regard the fairly simple requirements of the law.

Since the courts have had to construe the meaning of particular phrases in wills they have oftentimes found it necessary to give these phrases meanings which may not correspond with the particular maker's intent. Hence, the maker should always consult a competent lawyer about the wording and execution of the instrument.

THE ILLINOIS legislature has prescribed the essential elements of a valid will. Briefly stated, they are as follows:

1. A person 18 years old, of sound mind and memory, may make a will.

2. The will must be in writing and signed by the maker or by someone in his presence by his direction.

3. The will must be witnessed and signed in the presence of the maker by two credible witnesses who will swear before the county court that they saw the deceased sign the will, or that they acknowledged it to be his act. When witnesses are dead or otherwise unavailable, their signatures may be proved.

DATES AND addresses are not necessary in a will, though it is a good plan to insert a date showing when it was made. The language should be simple and direct so that it will not be misinterpreted, and it must show that the instrument is to be effective only in the event of death.

Wills may be used to dispose of all kinds of property, both real and personal, to create trusts or to give many different kinds of interests to desired parties.

WHEN A WILL is left it must be presented for probate by the person having it in his possession. Letters testamentary are then issued to the executor named in the will, or to another in accordance with provision of the law. When there is no will the person appointed by the court is known as an administrator. When both testate (included in a will) and intestate property are involved, the court may issue letters to an administrator with the will annexed.

In all cases, an executor and and administrator are charged by law with the preservation and management of the estate during administration, the collection and payment of debts and with making a final accounting and settlement.

There are many other specific duties prescribed by law, but these are the principal ones. The procedures are so involved that most executors and administrators need legal assistance. When estates are not settled quickly, the honesty, interest and managerial ability of the executor or administrator becomes highly important.

SOMETIMES WHEN people die they leave more than one will. By law any will that has not been revoked must be admitted to probate. When two or more wills are "constructed together," as the courts say, confusion often results.

This situation may be avoided in one or two ways. (1) by retaining the original will and adding to it a "Codicil" containing desired changes or alterations, or (2) by revoking all earlier wills and substituting a new one.

Much litigation has arisen out of the question of revocation. Was the will revoked or wasn't it? To help clarify this problem, the Illinois legislature has specified four ways in which a person may revoke his will: By burning, canceling, tearing or obliterating it; by making another will declaring the previous will revoked by inconsistent provisions of a later will — but only as to matters not consistent; by a separate instrument executed like a will, declaring the will revoked.

Also, in Illinois, marriage revokes a will made prior to the date of the marriage. Divorce does not revoke a will.

Illinois statutory provisions on wills are in the Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 3, Sections 193-205.

High-earning Farms Have Good Lime, Fertilizer Plan

An example of the dollars and cents value of a good fertilizer and lime program on Illinois farms shows up in a recent 10-year study of farm bureau Management Service records.

V. I. West, University of Illinois agricultural economist, reports that out of 240 farms in the group studied the 72 highest-earning farms used more than a third more lime and purchased fertilizers per tillable acre than was used on the 72 lowest-earning farms.

WHILE THERE were other reasons why some farms were more profitable than others, West says that crop yields were the most important efficiency factor affecting farm earnings. And proper use of lime and purchased fertilizer will increase crop yields more than enough to offset the cost of these materials.

More efficient use of fertilizer and lime is currently being emphasized in a USDA-Land Grant College program aimed at boosting food and fiber production, building up soil productivity, and increasing net returns to farmers in all farming areas of the U. S.

Not All Farmers File Correctly For Social Security

Most self-employed people are now working under social security and are afforded the same benefits and protection that have long been enjoyed by employees in commerce and industry, according to Miss Ellen McGuire, manager of the Northwest Chicago social security field office.

Coverage for most self-employed people began January 1, 1951. Not included in this group are farm operators, doctors, lawyers and certain other professional groups. Persons having net earnings of less that $400 for a taxable year are not considered self-employed for social security purposes and are not covered by the new law.

SOME QUESTIONABLE self-employment returns filed by residents of Northwest Cook county have been referred to the Northwest Chicago social security office for further investigation. Of these, some have been filed by farm operators who are not subject to the self-employment tax.

Benefits cannot be paid on the basis of incorrectly filed returns. Miss McGuire advised that adjustment of these incorrectly paid taxes will be made later by the collector of internal revenue. Farm, nursery and greenhouse operators whose enterprises may come under the agricultural definition of the social security law should obtain correct information from their local social security office or internal revenue office before filing their returns for 1952.

Residents of northwestern Cook county may contact the local office at 5306 W. Lawrence ave., Chicago 30, or may telephone SPring 7-3413. For the convenience of those living in the vicinity of Des Plaines, a representative of the social security administration may be contacted in room 6 of the Des Plaines post office every Tuesday from 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

POWER that Pur-r-r-s

when the going gets tough!

NEW FORD TRACTOR

The reserve of power you want when the going suddenly gets tougher is here in this new Ford Tractor. Just take a look at its new Ford "Red Tiger" engine and you'll see why.

You'll see a new overhead valve engine, with big bore and short stroke that cuts the travel of each piston approximately 5 miles in a working day, reducing friction and helping to make possible greater power with new economy of gas and oil. You'll see an engine with big, rotating exhaust valves, new lightning-fast governor and dozens of other examples of advanced engineering. Ignition is completely weatherproofed. All oil is normally filtered every time around. The whole engine is extra strong, extra rigid as well as extra powerful.

The more you know about tractor engines, the bigger kick you'll get out of looking over the one in the new Ford Tractor. The more you know about tractors, the better you'll realize that here is the most modern tractor on today's market. Come in today . . . look it over!

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

It is easy to put the whole family in a picture like this when you use an automatic release to trip the shutter, rather than having someone behind the camera who really belongs in the picture.

Here's How Everyone Can Get Into the Picture

A FREQUENT complaint among camera users is that they never get a chance to be in the picture. A glance at their family albums would give the impression that he or she was virtually a stranger, someone who dropped in once or twice a year, but not a part of the family group.

There's really no reason why the family album can't contain a fair share of snapshots including the entire family—and without having a kindly friend or neighbor man the camera for you.

The answer lies in an inexpensive little gadget that fits on your camera—a very simple accessory that enables the person who sets up the camera to be in the picture. It is called an automatic release and this is how it works:

Assemble your group, leaving an easily accessible spot for yourself. Set the camera on a tripod with your picture nicely composed in the view finder. When all is in readiness, you set the release which has a spring type control. Then you don't waste any time taking your place in the group before the camera. You'll have about 10 seconds to make it before the automatic release trips the shutter and takes the picture.

Some of the older cameras, which are not equipped for synchronized flash, have such a timing element built in. However, all the newer models require the accessory automatic timer.

Check with your photographic dealer about the automatic release accessory for your camera—and how to take a picture and be in it too. Some people feel that especially good group pictures are often made this way because the other people are so interested in whether or not the photographer is going to make it into the picture before the shutter is tripped that they forget to be camera conscious.

In any event, it is a trick that is fun to try and it will put you in your own picture.

—John Van Guilder

Expect 40% To Sign For ACP

It is estimated that aproximately 40% of the farmers in Cook county will be signed up to participate in the 1953 agricultural conservation program, according to Carl M. Bormet, chairman of the local county PMA committee.

Each and every one of these cooperating farmers, warned Mr. Bormet, should be fully aware of one of the changes that has been made in this year's program. This change provides that no payment can be made for any practice which is started before an official notice is issued to the farmer advising him of the specific conservation work which has been approved under the program.

COMMITTEEMAN Bormet gave assurances that these official notices would be issued by the county committee as soon as possible and in no event later than the middle of February. This means in effect, he said, that credit cannot be given under the 1953 program for any practices which are carried out during the first four to possible six weeks of this 1953 year.

This provision, he explained, was initiated as an endeavor to keep the program in line with the intent of directing program assistance to increased practice accomplishment that otherwise would not be made. Only when a farmer has received his official notice is he in a position to carry out the approved practice in accordance with program provisions.

Good Farm Records Help Avoid Tax Headaches

One of the best prescriptions for avoiding a big headache at tax reporting time is a good farm record book.

Each year more farmers discover that they can't satisfy the tax collector with incomplete and inadequate records.

An easy-to-keep farm record book that will help make an income tax report acceptable to the Bureau of internal revenue is the Illinois farm record book, available at the Farm Bureau office in Arlington Heights and Tinley Park.

Help at income tax time, however, is only one of the many reasons why the modern farmer depends on good farm records. In these days of high-cost farming it's next to impossible to manage an efficient and profitable farm business without adequate records.

Carl Mees, Cook county farm adviser, reports more than 300 Illinois farmers used the Illinois farm record book in 1952. It is distributed at cost of printing and handling, usualy about 50 cents a copy.

Milk Production Per Person At Record Low

Milk production per person in this country is now lower than ever before, according to a report from the U. S. department of agriculture.

While our population has increased more than 20 million in the U. S. during the past decade, the output of milk by our dairy farms is just about the same as it was 10 years ago.

The reason for the lower supply per person is that farmers in the U. S. are actually milking fewer cows than at any time since 1929.

ALTHOUGH TOTAL milk production has not increased, the dairy cow as an individual has made a much better showing. In the past quarter of a century, cattle breeders and farmers have managed to raise the average milk production per cow by more than a thousand pounds. But we still have plenty of room for improvement, the dairy specialists say.

Even now the average cow in the U. S. produces little more than 5,300 pounds of milk a year.

More than a million cows in dairy-herd-improvement association herds, meanwhile, now average about 9,000 pounds per cow. And thousands of other farmers could boost their dairy production through better breeding, feeding and management practices similar to those used by DHIA members.

Larger Homes Today

American families during 1953 will build more large homes, of the three-bedroom type, than in recent years and will spend more money for their dwellings.

Two years ago the majority of new homes being built were in the $10,000 to $12,000 range and were of the four-room house type.

Farm, Home Plans Include Whole Family

Something educational and entertaining for every member of the family will be included in the Farm and Home Week program February 2-5 at the University of Illinois, says Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees.

W. D. Murphy, program chairman, reports that sessions scheduled for farmers will include agricultural outlook, farm drainage and farm machinery, grains and grain marketing, dairy and dairy marketing, livestock, farm forestry, land use and tenancy problems.

TWO SPECIAL interest sessions will cover legume-grass crops, with three farmers telling how and why they use grass silage on their dairy and beef farms, and how they handle forage crops. Other high-light sessions will include an agronomy research revue and mechanizing farm chores.

Special programs for farm wofen will be held each day. They will offer 18 different classes including remodeling, sewing, cooking, child care, buying furniture and fabrics, and other homemaking subjects.

MAIN SPEAKERS scheduled for three of the afternoon general session programs are George D. Stoddard, president of the University of Illinois, John Hannah, president of Michigan State

Red Cross Tells Use Of Funds

Contributions to the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, totaled $3,582,262.

From the 1951 fund campaign receipts, $2,225,954 was remitted to the American national Red Cross and represented the Chicago chapter's share in the cost of maintaining the nation- and world-wide program of Red Cross services to the armed forces, aiding victims of national disasters, and operating the country-wide blood collection program.

OF THE NEARLY $1½ million spent locally by the Chicago chapter in year-round services to the 5,000,000 residents in Cook and DuPage counties and the southern half of Lake county, the largest amount — $592,325—went to the chapter's home service activities for servicemen, veterans and their families in the Chicago area.

Other Chicago Red Cross services to the community, including first aid and water safety, nursing services, and other educational and training programs, accounted for $168,366. Disaster preparedness and relief cost $28,264 for the 1,731 victims of local fires, explosions and other emergencies who required food, clothing, shelter, and aid.

* * *

PRINCIPAL REASON for the deficit of $440,000 was a special appropriation of $350,000 voted by the chapter's board of directors from general unappropriated funds as Chicago's share of the Kansas-Missouri-Illinois flood relief fund in July, 1951.

'Good Housekeeping' Next At Showcase

The director and actress will exchange roles in "Good Housekeeping," which opened a two-week run January 27 at Showcase theater, 1716 Central st., Evanston.

Hugh Rennie, who has directed the last three Showcase offerings will take a leading role in the comedy of contemporary politics written by William McCleery. Hope Summers, Showcase producer and star of "The Curious Savage" recently directed by Rennie, will take over directing duties.

The play revolves around a woman with too much time on her hands who decides to get her university president husband into politics.

Barbara Foley, who played The Wreck's girlfriend in "My Sister Eileen," will be seen as Marion Burnett, the role Miss Hayes created. Rennie will play her husband. Arthur Peterson, local radio and TV actor, also will take a featured role.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What should a woman do if a man offers his hand when being introduced to her?

A. Accept it, of course, and without hesitation — even though it is her place to offer her hand if she wishes. She would show ill-breeding if she were to ignore any spontaneous act of friendliness.

Q. When are plates removed from the dinner table for ensuing courses?

A. The plates for each course should not be removed until the slowest eater has finished that particular course and laid down his fork.

Q. How far in advance of the wedding may gifts be sent to the bride?

A. Usually ten days or two weeks prior to the day of the wedding. This gives the bride ample time to acknowledge them.

Q. I see more and more women smoking on the streets. Is this considered proper now?

A. Maybe sometime this will be accepted by good society, but at present it still is in the "improper" category. Also, a man walking along with a woman on city streets does not smoke.

Q. When the persons behind you at the theater persist in talking, is it permissible to ask them to stop?

A. Yes, but do this as quietly and pleasantly as possible. If they seem to resent your request and ignore it, then speak to an usher.

Q. Is it permissible to use both the knife and fork when eating fish?

A. Uusually the fork is the only implement necessary.

Q. Is it all right for a girl to give her fiance an engagement gift?

A. Although it is not customary or obligatory, there certainly is nothing wrong with it. Her gift might be cuff links, key chain, or cigarette lighter or case.

Q. When one is a guest at a dinner served in a hotel dining room, or a restaurant, should one leave a tip for the waiter in addition to that left by the host?

A. No; this is only the obligation of the host.

Q. Is it all right to cut hot biscuits at the table with the knife?

A. Never; break them apart with the fingers.

Q. Is it proper for a woman to hold a man's arm when walking with him?

A. Not during the day, unless she is old or feeble. At night a man may offer his arm, not only because it is a courtesy, but usually because stilt-heeled shoes provide somewhat of a hazard in the dark.

by W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused

Since "no" means "not any," do not use another negative with it. Say, "He had no reason," not, "He didn't have no reason." Say, "I don't want to hear that any more," not "no more."

A moment is a brief space of time, the duration of which is not exactly designated. It should not be used as synonymous with "minute," the more precise term, which means the sixtieth part of an hour.

Do not say, "He uses mighty good English." "Mighty" is an adverb, in the sense of "very, exceedingly," is colloquial, and should be avoided in formal usage.

Use "hardly" to express degree, "scarcely" to express quantity. "She is hardly well enough to go." "I have scarcely enough paper."

Do not say, "I have just washed by hair and I can't do a thing with them." Say, "I can't do a thing with it."

Do not say, "I guess I was mistaken." Say, "I suppose I was mistaken."

Words Often Mispronounced

Beethoven (the composer). Pronounce ba-to-ven, a as in bait, o as in toe, acent first syllable.

Strategic. Pronounce stra-te-jik, first a as in add, e as in tea, accent second syllable, not the first.

Malpractice. Pronounce both a's as in at, and accent second syllable.

Untoward. Pronounce un-to-erd, o as in toe. accent second syllable.

Staccato. Pronounce sta-ka-to, first a unstressed, second a as in ah, o as in toe, accent second syllable.

Virile. In the preferred pronunciation, both i's are as in it.

Words Often Misspelled

Gamble (to wager); gambol (to frolic). Consummate; two m's. Criticize, ze preferred; criticism, sm. Decent (fitting); descent (act of descending); dissent (disagreement). Profit (gain); prophet (seer). Panacea; pronounce pan-a-se-a, first a as in pan, accent third syllable.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Dissembled (adjective); quality of being disguised or simulated. "The swindler ingratiated himself with dissembled interest."

Perpetrate; to commit, as an offense (usually used in a bad sense). "It took a morbid soul to perpetrate such a deed."

Irreproachable; above censure; blameless. "He was a man of irreproachable morals."

Irrelevant; not bearing upon the case in hand. "His remarks were irrelevant."

Vehement; very ardent; very fervent; passionate. "The people are vehement in their demands."

Demurely; soberly; gravely; modestly. "She blushed, then answered him demurely."

Enough Vehicles In State To Cover Every 7 Yards Of State Highways

If every car and truck owner in the state of Illinois tried to go for a ride on the same Sunday afternoon, there would be a vehicle every 7 yards on every paved street and highway in the state.

Fortunately, the odds are against this happening, since the average motorist spends only about 25 "days" a year in his car.

The average motorist drove 9,000 miles last year. At his average pace of 30 miles an hour, this totals 300 hours, or 25 daylight driving days. This is only 6.8 per cent of the daylight hours in a year, he says.

Vehicle registration will probably reach an estimated 2,854,000 early this year. Hard-surfaced road mileage in both rural and urban areas of the state is 12,167, also a new high.

Bits O' Business

American pipe makers protest British imports. "Teach American women to smoke pipes," retorts a Briton . . . Hydraulically-formed forgings get larger and larger, but the posts at the corners of presses have always set a limit on their size. Now an Ohio company wants to make a press with no posts, the bed would be set in the floor of a concrete building and the press half would hang from the ceiling . . . Moonshiners built a big still next to a yeast factory, in the hope the aroma of fermentation would pass as legitimate . . . Big three aluminum producers wouldn't trade freedom to cancel their government contracts for a small price rise. They say ceilings will be off soon anyway . . . The company that makes these hurry-up auto washers has re-designed them with one track instead of two . . . Good sign: Truck and fibre container sales rise. Both mean more goods being packed, moved.

Glenview Wins Suit To Stop Pre-Fab Home

A Glenview man's suit to force the village to permit erection of a prefabricated home on Park lane lost out in Circuit Court.

Judge Elmer Schnackenberg denied a petition for a writ of mandamus which had been brought by Warren A. Reuter, 2601 Park lane.

Builder Reuter's battery of attorneys attempted to prove that the Gunnison pre-fabricated house met minimum building code standards.

Judge Schnackenberg, who had heard testimony January 12, upheld Crowley and dismissed the petition Friday.

The mandamus action was brought by Reuter after the Glenview village board last summer unanimously refused him a permit to construct the home on the lot at 2609 Park lane next to his home.

Harry's Budget Is $678 A Man

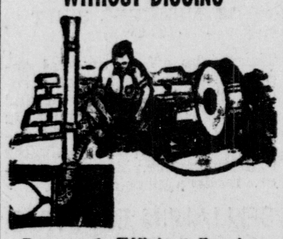

If Congress adopts the 78.6 billion dollar budget submitted to it on January 9, the cost to individuals and business concerns in Cook county will be $3½ billion, in DuPage county 93 million.

This estimate was released by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce on the basis of a tabulation showing each county's share of Illinois' federal tax bill of approximately 5.9 billion dollars. Illinois pays 7.52% of all taxes received by the Federal government.

STATE CHAMBER president Gordon M. Jones declared that federal spending of 78.6 billion dollars as proposed in the Federal budget will average $678 for each man, woman and child in Illinois, or $2,712 for each family of four persons. He also pointed out that this burden of federal spending would be more than five times the combined total of all taxes of the state of Illinois plus property taxes for cities, counties, schools and all other units of local government in Illinois.

According to president Jones, whether the federal spending estimates will be reduced or not will depend upon the action Congress takes on individual appropriation measures. Each billion dollars by which spending can be reduced will mean a cut of 75.2 million dollars in the burden Illinois must shoulder.

About Your Health

Improperly fitting shoes are the most common cause of painful feet, yet many people, women in particular, pay more attention to style than to comfort in the selection of shoes.

Shoes should be fitted to give the wearer stability and balance in walking. Certainly the body structure is not in proportion with extremely high and narrow heels, which are present day dictates of fashion.

SINCE ARCHES do not usually "fall" or "break" of themselves, it is reasonable to assume that external irritation is responsible and usually the shoes and stockings are the culprits. On the other hand, arthritis frequently causes painful feet, especially in older persons. Disturbances of the circulation may be responsible for foot pains and nerve inflammations.

The condition "fallen arches" seems to occur most often in women and results from some injury to one of the main bones of the foot known as the astragalus. People who stand long hours are likely to be disturbed by painful feet due to continuous strain on the arches. In such cases the pain is the result of rigidity of the tissues and of spasms of the muscles in their effort to overcome the strain.

TWENTY-SIX JOINTS exist among the bones in each foot from ankle to toe tip and since joints are purely mechanical methods of changing the direction of force, they play a large part in the flexibility of the feet.

Callouses and corns are two common ailments. The former is a thickening of the normal skin caused by excessive pressure for a prolonged period of time. Corns, on the other hand, are thickenings of the skin together with the callous, but in the central portion there is a core that penetrates into the deeper tissues. Both of these conditions can be avoided, if adequate attention is paid to the care of the feet.

Bunions are a protusion of the bone, usually at the base of the large toe. Women are the chief victims of this condition, caused by the spreading of the metatarsal bones. Their development is again encouraged by the wearing of high heels.

INGROWN TOENAILS are another source of painful feet. These can be avoided if the nail is cut at right angles to its growth. The corners should be square rather than rounded. This will prevent the nail from penetrating the soft skin tissues.

Since the feet accumulate dirt and perspiration, they should be bathed frequently and carefully with warm soapy water. Special attention should be paid to the webbing between the toes to prevent the growth of bacteria and fungi.

Lawson Y Classes

The winter term for Lawson YMCA's classes in modern living will begin the week of January 31 through February 6, offering a curriculum of over 60 informal evening courses for men and women in the Chicagoland area.

The adult education program will include classes in psychology, speech, writing, music, fine arts, hobbies, sports, and languages, taught by university faculty members and prominent leaders in business and the professions.

MT. PROSPECT OFFERS A WEEK OF BARGAINS

Meeske's New Store Re-opens

Meeske's will reopen at the corner of Main and Busse sts. the morning of February 2, with complete new stock and many new features added during the rebuilding after the fire of November 10 to make shopping even easier and more pleasant than when the store was opened in June, 1950.

There will be a festive air at the store all during the week ending February 7, when Meeske will celebrate with an opening sale. In addition to the bargains offered, it will be a week long open house, with demonstrators, prizes, special music, Jim McGlue and his happy violin, and Fred Meeske himself on hand to greet his friends and customers. The store will remain open Wednesday afternoon during the sale.

First seen of the innovations upon entering the store are the Magic Carpet automatic door and the new check-out booths, first of their kind to be installed in this part of the country. Automatic features allow three checkers to accommodate five customers faster than the four lanes did previously.

More shopping space resulted from moving the offices to a balcony above the meat coolers. Each bank of shelves has been extended four feet. Refrigerated produce cases are larger, and the deep freeze cases will hold a ton of frozen foods. All refrigerated cases are new, including the meat coolers. Meat cases have been extended across the width of the store, except for an aisle. Asked if he would carry pre-packaged meats, Meeske replied: "Our customers wanted us to continue our custom cut meats."

The interior decorating, soft music, acoustical ceiling, and thin-line flourescent lighting all add to the enjoyment of the shopper.

Space under the rafters is being utilized for storerooms, in addition to the basement storerooms which are accommodated by a caterpillar lift for the handling of stock, insuring the customer of adequate supplies available at all times.

On Sunday afternoon the store will be inspected by members of the Central Grocers' Association.

Local Stores Keep Pace With Growth Of The Community

While other towns have been talking about their business sections, development in Mount Prospect has quietly moved ahead and now a wide selection of commodities and services is offered.

"Uptown" today has a far different appearance, Fred Meeske reminisced this week as he prepared to reopen his store, than it did in 1926 when he took over the grocery and market from William Busse Jr. There was Busse's grocery and market on the highway, the bank, Busse Motors and another garage but no gas stations, a barber shop and two taverns, a dry goods store, Busse-Biermann hardware, Wille's Lumber yard, and Meyn's blacksmith shop where the Sinclair station is now. An ice cream parlor, a feed store, and a creamery have disappeared from the scene.

It was a boom era, "but nothing compared to now," Meeske commented. Construction was mainly of streets, sewers, sidewalks, and other public improvements, and what seemed at the time a good many homes. Business blocks were erected during this pre-depression period to keep pace with the village.

Business and professional pioneers knew Mount Prospect was a desirable place to live, and welcomed the post-war expansion. The old general store has disappeared, replaced by smart new shops offering fine quality merchandise. There has been an influx of professional people to serve every need. Building trades, small industries, services such as cleaners, laundry, gas stations and places of amusement are represented, making a well rounded business development to serve the community.

THE RE-OPENING OF MEESKE'S means a lot to the business district of Mount Prospect. It has always been a store that attracted food shoppers from neighboring communities, and its success has aided all privately owned stores in Mount Prospect. The speed with which Meeske's has been rebuilt has pleased all of us.

Meeske's has been an integral part of our community and business life over a quarter of a century and we join the citizens of our growing town in extending to its indomitable owner our sincere congratulations.

It is the spirit displayed by Mr. Meeske and many other business men of Mount Prospect that is making this town a good place in which to live, a good place in which to shop and a good place in which to raise our families.

The majority of Mount Prospect stores are participating in a village-wide sale next week, Monday to Saturday. There are many opportunities to save money.

This sale is being advertised in all editions of Paddock Publications. We expect that a great many of "our neighbors" from adjoining communities will visit our stores next week.

We bid these people welcome. We hope you will like our stores and get the habit of shopping in Mount Prospect—the friendly town—small enough to be neighborly and big enough to serve your every need.

Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce
RALPH BACHMANN, President

Sale Starts Feb. 2 At 20 Stores

Mount Prospect merchants are using four pages this week to carry a sales message to the entire northwest area.

The Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce, in recognition of the re-opening of Meeske's, is sponsoring a city-wide sale. Practically every Mount Prospect business house is cooperating. Special messages from all of them appear in the following three pages.

It has been the practice of Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce to welcome new business firms. They are doing so this week to Mount Prospect Jewelers. This new firm comprises two partners, Richard Meyers and LaVerne Funk, who are well experienced and merit the consideration of residents of this area. Their opening announcement appears on this page.

Active business men and good stores are a necessity in any residential community. Mount Prospect has both. Its stores are modern in appearance and in the merchandise that is carried. The increasing number of shoppers who visit those stores is proof that they merit the patronage they are receiving.

The sale February 2 to 7 is taking the place of the annual February dollar sale, and the bargain prices offered are as exciting as have ever been offered in Mount Prospect.

Some of the business firms are exclusively in the service line, but 14 of them are in a position to offer some great buys. Persons visiting these stores next week will find that the specials are not limited to those mentioned in their advertisements. This is a city-wide sale and visitors will find many other bargains that will make their trip to Mount Prospect worthwhile.

Here is a directory of the participating firms, with one of the many bargains each is advertising.

January 21, 1953

Mr. Walter Kirchhoff
Kirchhoff Insurance Agency
33 South Main Street
Mt. Prospect, Illinois

Dear Wally:

On February 2nd - I'll be back in business in a new, better-than-ever store. This is a day I wasn't sure I would ever see as I stood in the midst of the smouldering ruins of my store on that terrible "morning after" - on November 11th.

I am very thankful that I had the good sense to place the complete job of insurance adjustment in the hands of a local agent who had my interest at heart. My word of "thanks" seems very hollow when I think of the many hours you have spent in my behalf in handling the countless details with insurance companies, adjusters, salvagers, contractors and carpenters.

Not only did you handle every single detail involving scores of people and thousands of dollars, but I think you must have set a record, Wally, in helping to get my new store ready in such a short time! As I recall, it was by noon of the day following the fire that you had the contracts all drawn and ready to sign to start work on the new store!

They say that out of every bad something good results. Actually, two "goods" resulted from this experience. First, more than ever, I am completely sold on the value of adequate insurance coverage. And, secondly, I found there is no substitute for the personalized attention you can and do offer to your insureds. You can be sure that you may put me on the list of "satisfied customers" of the Kirchhoff Insurance Agency!

Sincerely yours,
Fred Meeske
